It was then that the Tiger appeared.
"Good morning," said the Tiger.
"Good morning," the little prince responded politely, although when he turned around he saw nothing.
"I am right here," the voice said, "under the apple tree."
"Who are you," asked the little prince, and added, "You are very pretty to look at."

"I am a Tiger," the Tiger said.
"Come and play with me," proposed the little prince. "I am so unhappy."
"I cannot play with you," the Tiger said. "I am not tamed."

"Ah! Please excuse me," said the little prince.
But, after some thought, he added: "What does that mean — 'tame.'"
"You do not live here," said the Tiger. "What is it that you are looking for?"

"I am looking for men," said the little prince. "What does that mean — 'tame'?"

"Men," said the Tiger. "They have guns, and they hunt. It is very disturbing. They also raise chickens. These are their only interests. Are you looking for chickens?"

"No," said the little prince. "I am looking for friends. What does that mean — 'tame'?"

"It is an act often neglected," said the Tiger. "It means to establish ties."

"To establish ties?"
"Just that," said the Tiger. "To me, you are still nothing more than a little boy who is just like a hundred thousand other boys. And I have no need of you. And you, on your part, have no need of me. To you, I am nothing more than a Tiger like a hundred thousand other Tigers. But if you tame me, then we shall need each other. To me, you will be unique in all the world. To you, I shall be unique in all the world. . . ."

"I am beginning to understand," said the little prince. "There is a flower . . . I think that she has tamed me . . ."

"It is possible," said the Tiger. "On the Earth one sees all sorts of things."

"Oh, but this is not on the Earth!" said the little prince.

The Tiger seemed perplexed, and very curious.

"On another planet?"

"Yes."

"Are there hunters on that planet?"

"No."

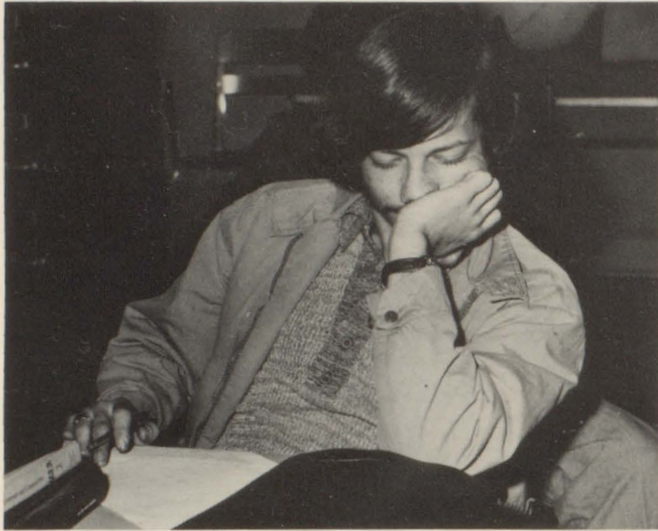

"Ah, that is interesting! Are there chickens?"

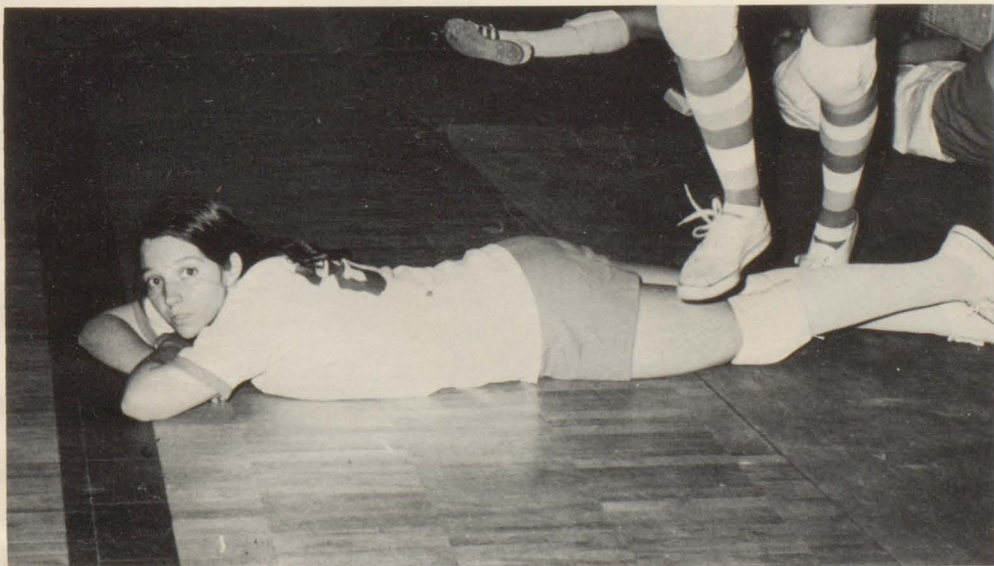

"No."

"Nothing is perfect," sighed the Tiger.

But he came back to his idea.

"My life is very monotonous," he said. "I hunt chickens; men hunt me. All the chickens are just alike, and all the men are just alike. And, in consequence, I am a little bored. But if you tame me, it will be as if the sun came to shine on my life. I shall know the sound of a step that will be different from all the others. Other steps send me hurrying back underneath the ground. Yours will call me, like music, out of my burrow. And then look: you see the grain-fields down yonder? I do not eat bread. Wheat is of no use to me. The wheat fields have nothing to say to me. And that is sad. But you have hair that is the color of gold. Think how wonderful that will be when you have tamed me! The grain, which is also golden, will bring me back the thought of you. And I shall love to listen to the wind in the wheat . . ."

The Tiger gazed at the little prince, for a long time.

"Please — tame me!" he said.

"I want to, very much," the little prince replied. "But I have not much time. I have friends to discover, and a great many things to understand."

"One only understands the things that one tames," said the Tiger. "Men have no more time to understand anything. They buy things all ready made at the shops. But there is no shop anywhere where one can buy friendship, and so men have no friends any more. If you want a friend, tame me . . ."

"What must I do, to tame you?" asked the little prince.

"You must be very patient," replied the Tiger. "First you sit down at a little distance from me — like that — in the grass. I shall look at you out of the corner of my eye, and you will say nothing. Words are the source of misunderstandings. But you will sit a little closer to me, every day . . ."

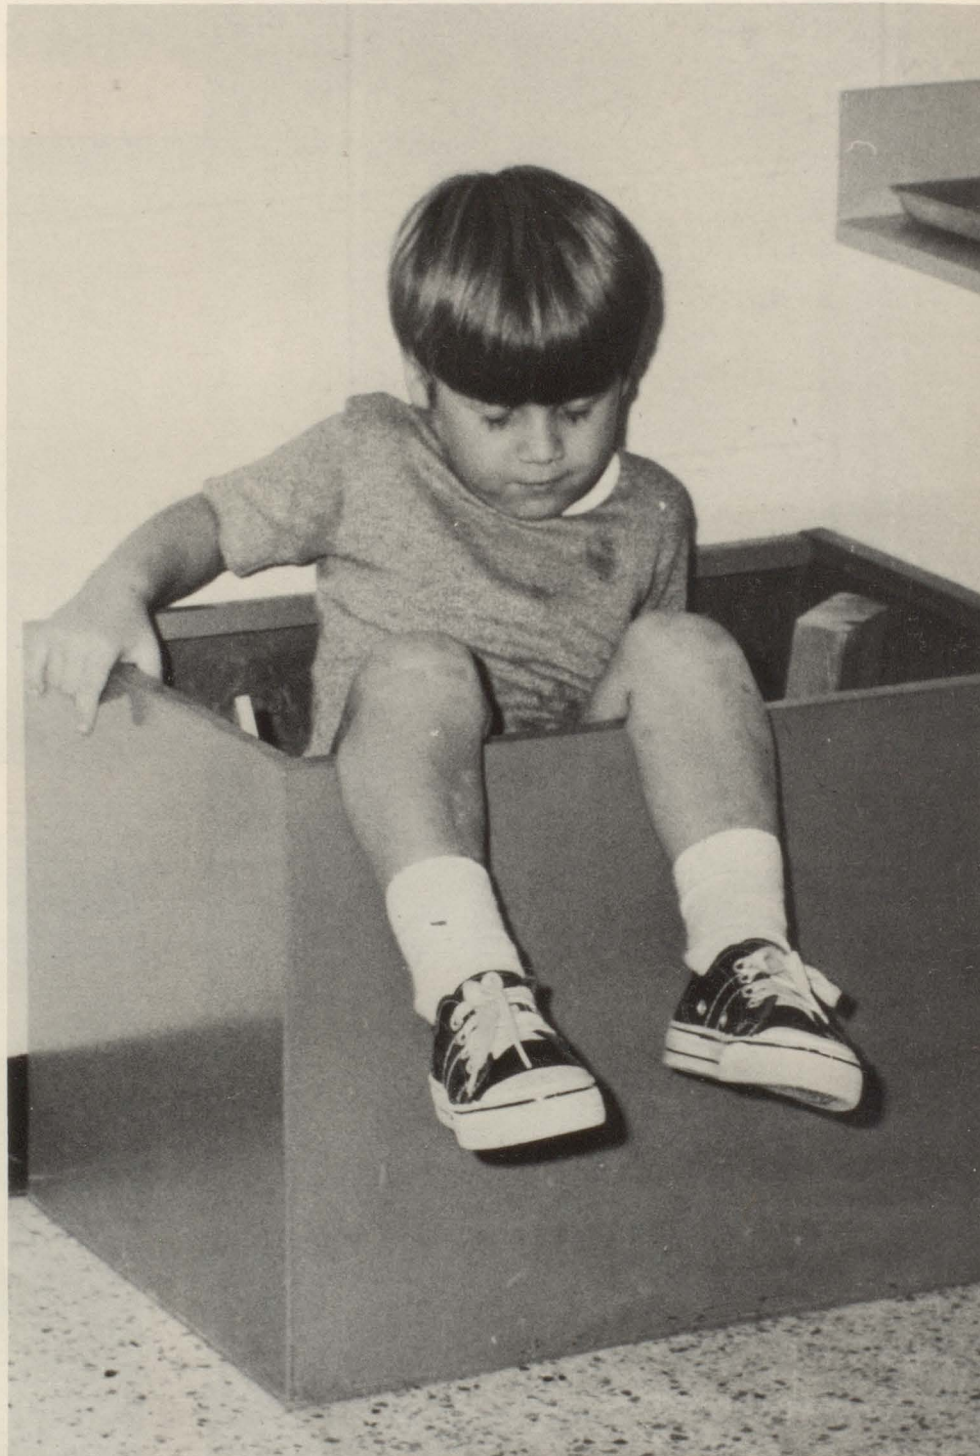

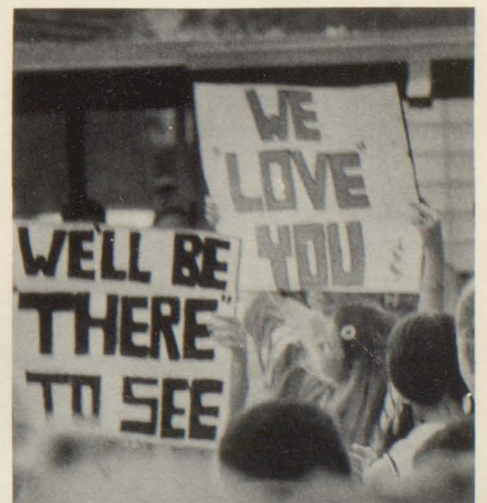

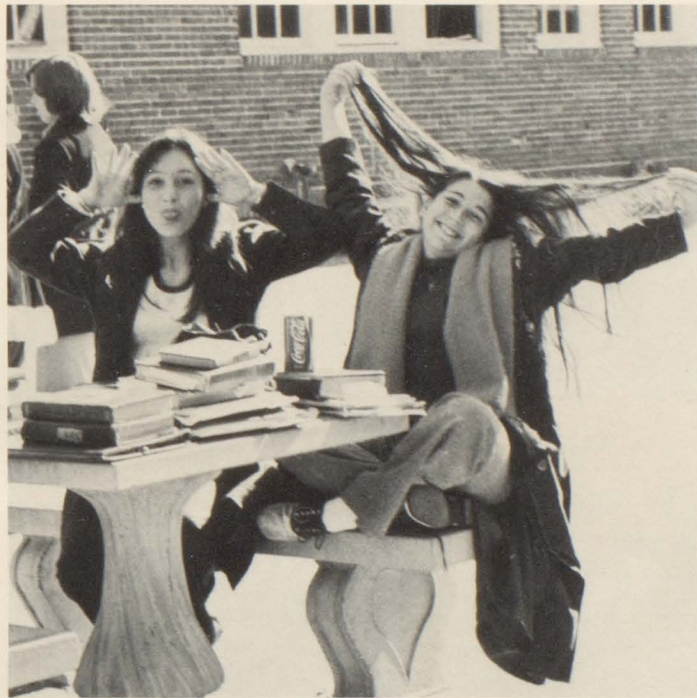

The next day the little prince came back.

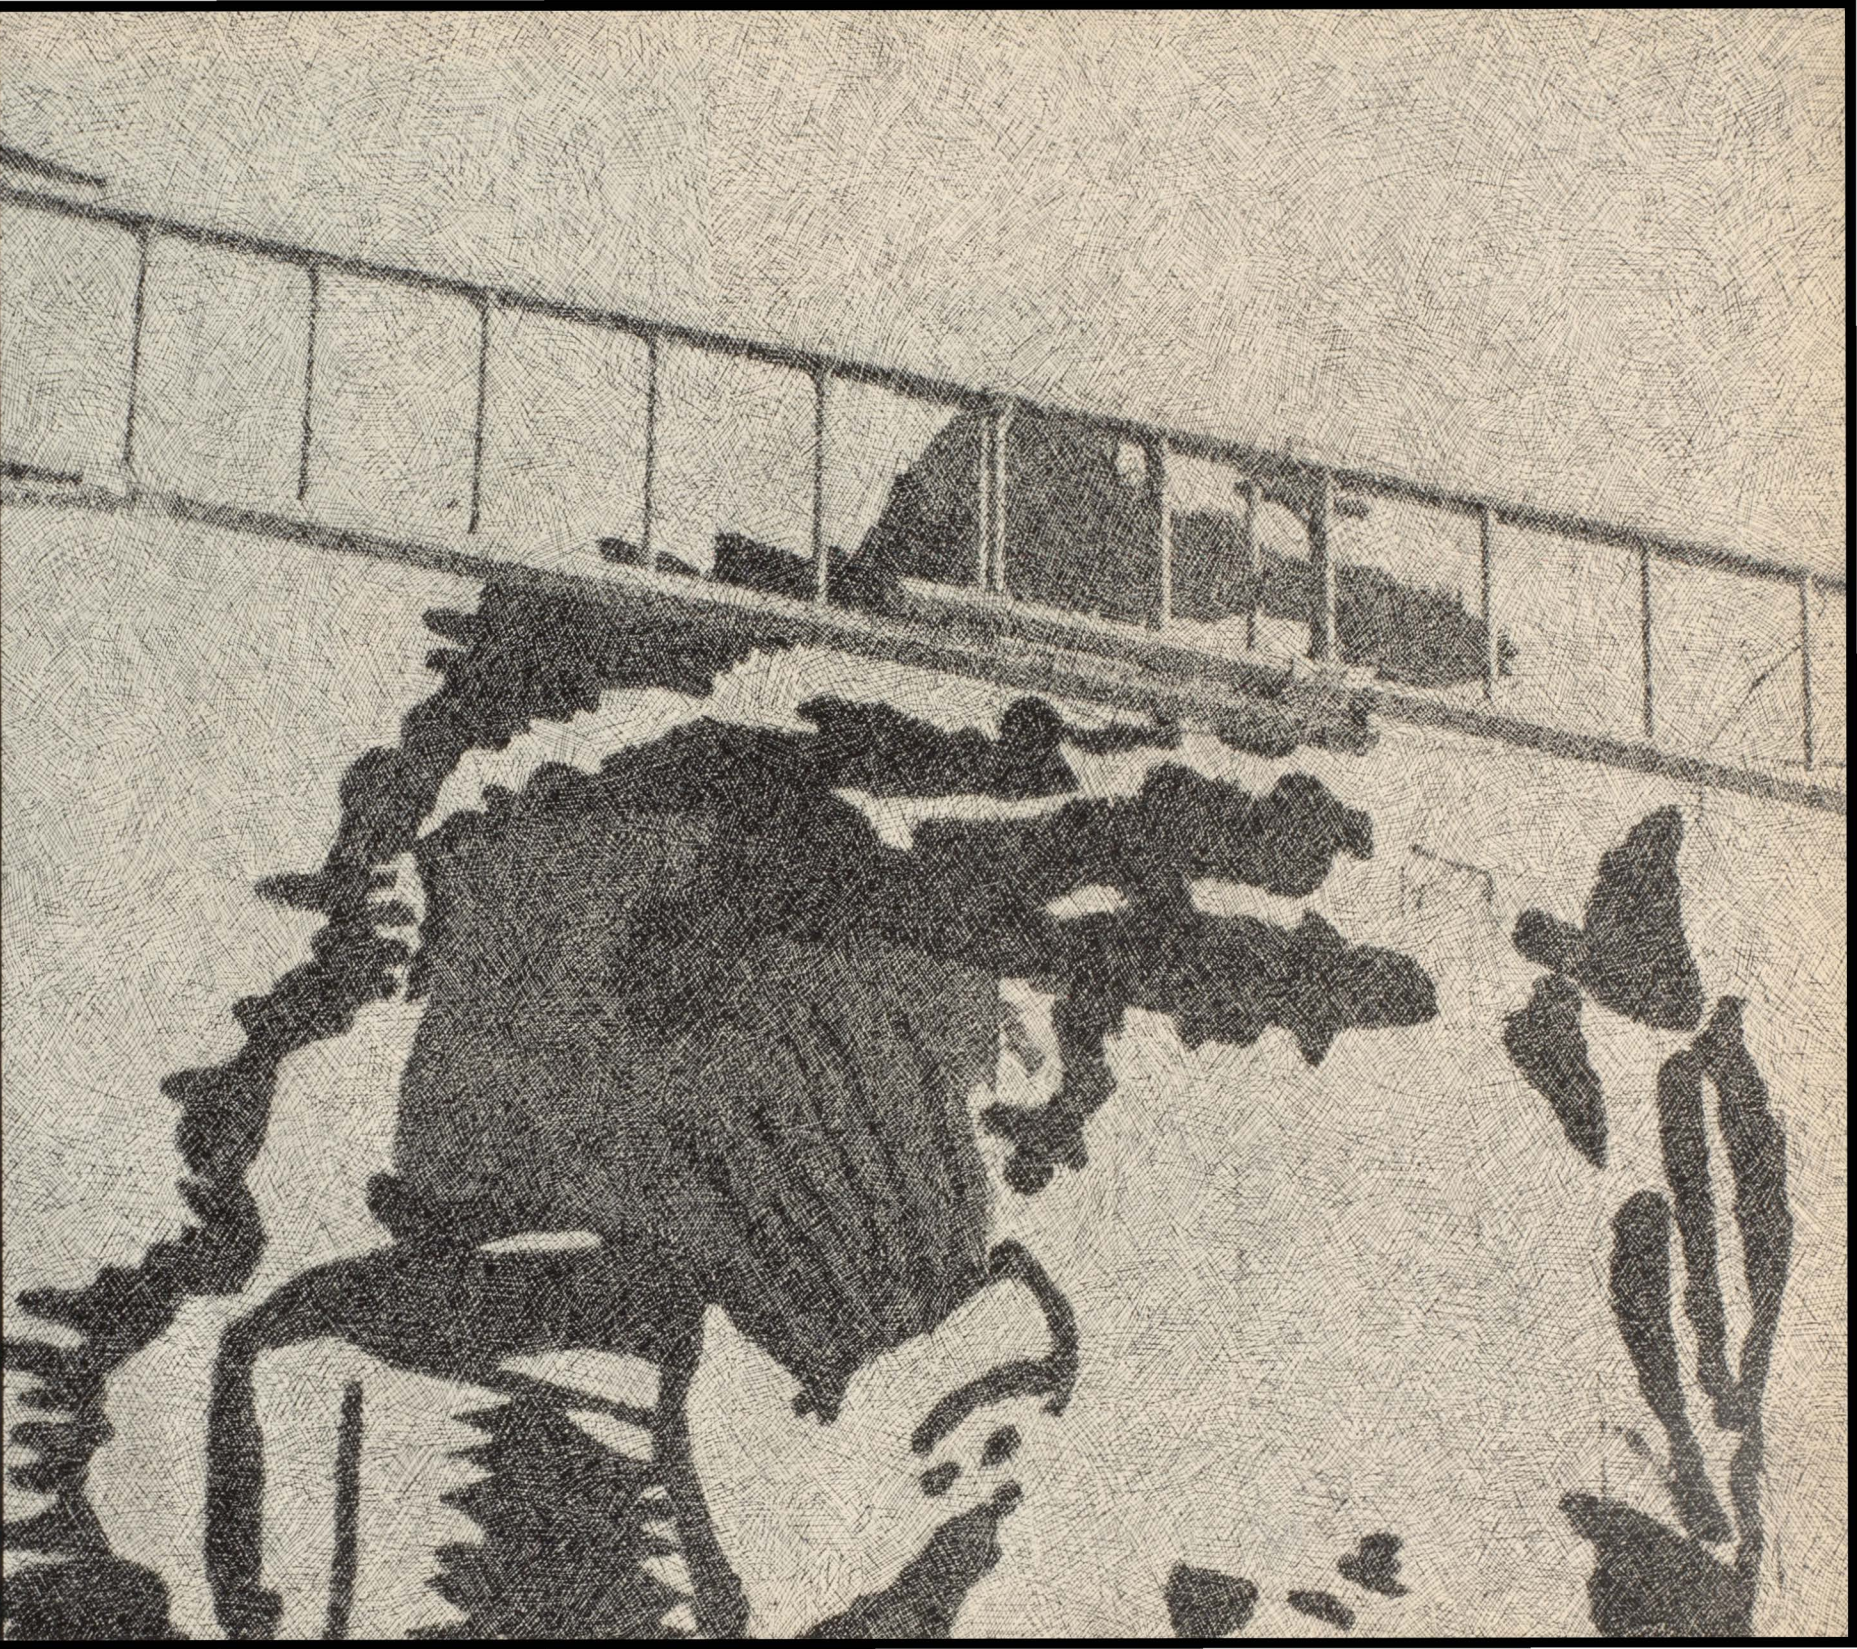

"It would have been better to come back at the same hour," said the Tiger. "If, for example, you come at four o'clock in the afternoon, then at three o'clock I shall begin to be happy. I shall feel happier and happier as the hour advances. At four o'clock, I shall already be worrying and jumping about. I shall show you how happy I am! But if you come at just any time, I shall never know at what hour my heart is to be ready to greet you . . . One must observe the proper rites . . ."

"What is a rite?" asked the little prince.

"Those also are actions too often neglected," said the Tiger. "They are what make one day different from other days, one hour from other hours. There is a rite, for example, among my hunters. Every Thursday is a wonderful day for me! I can take a walk as far as the vineyards. But if the hunter danced at just any time, every day would be like every other day, and I should never have any vacation at all."

ACTIONS

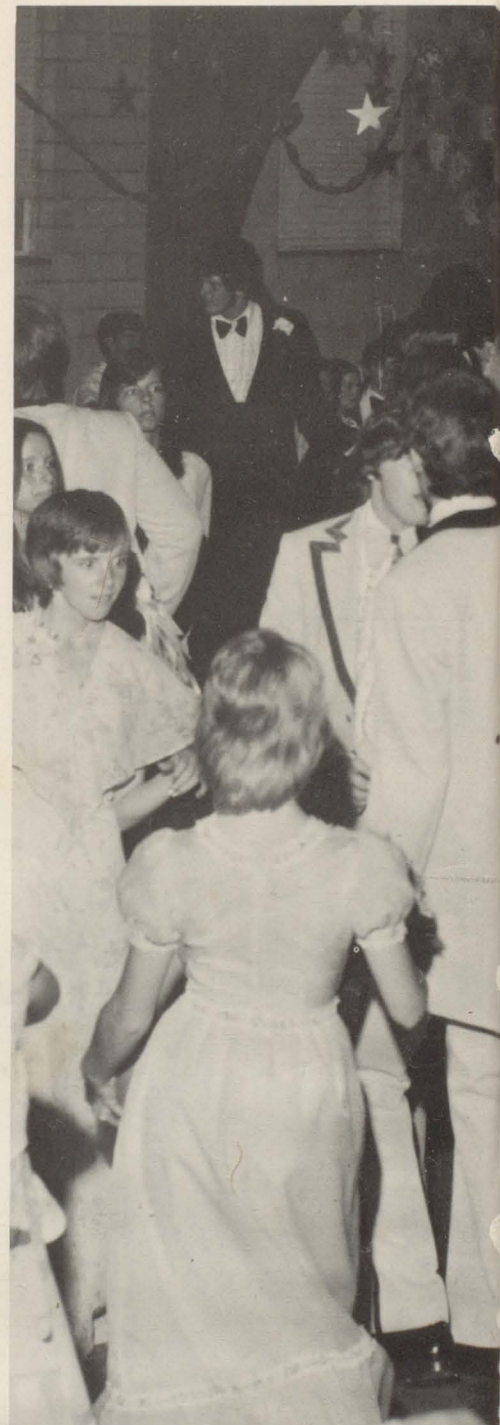

Step back in time about twenty years. Remember the bobby socks, ponytails, crew cuts, and long skirts? Then remember Homecoming '75. The Roaring 50's was the theme. Floats were built, corsages were bought, suits were cleaned, shoes were shined and dates were made. The Sophomore class ran away with the Blue Ribbon for their No. 1 float. Homecoming beauties were presented to the half-time crowd. Couples at the dance bopped until midnight to the music of Rukus. Happy times were truly here again.

BELOW: Homecoming court from left to right: Vivian Ingram escorted by Willie Clopton, Celeste Posey escorted by Jimmy Bryars, Michele Williams escorted by Leon Williams, Kay Etheridge escorted by Ray Robinson, Queen Cathy Little escorted by Wayne Presley, Queen Amosene Watson escorted by Jimmy Bennett, Bernice Taite escorted by Bruce Hooks, Nathalie Owen escorted by Kevin Eyl, Jeanette Williams escorted by Thomas Davis, Kim Morris escorted by Randy Burgan.

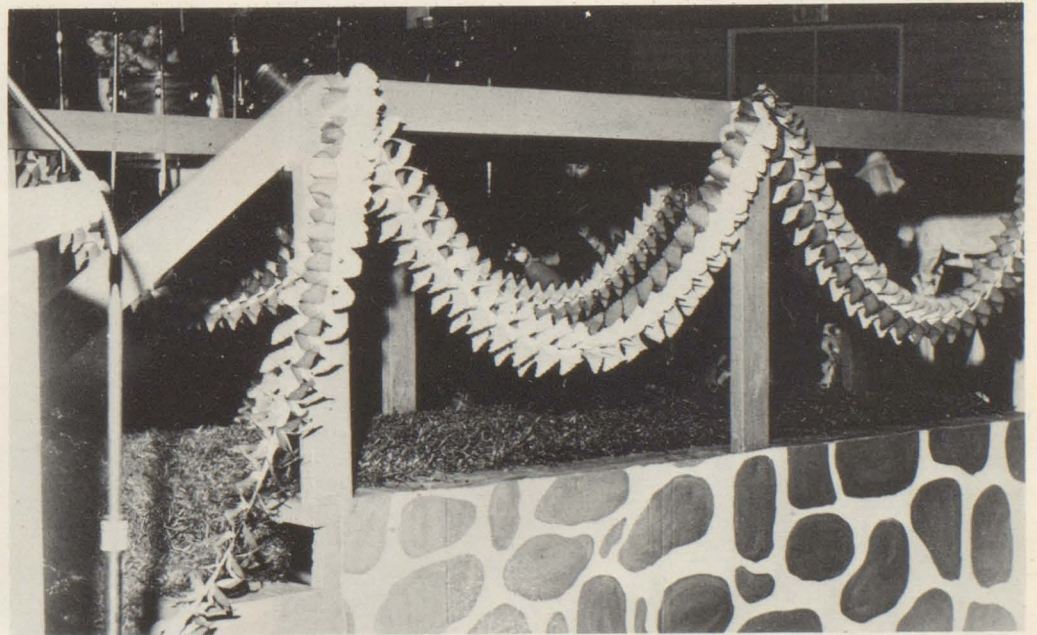

"We May Never Pass This Way

Long flowing gowns . . . tuxedos
. . . spring bouquets . . . first dance
. . . last dance . . . tears . . . smiles
. . . words of wisdom . . . all these things were there at the 1975 Junior-Senior Prom. 7:30 p.m. brought on the leadout with couples walking over a country bridge. 8:00 found the Seniors having the first dance dedicated to them. The theme, "We May Never Pass This Way Again," was carried out with dainty baskets set out on the tables. A beautiful flowing fountain stood in the center of the room.
Behind the band was a Spring scene of the country. The Juniors did an outstanding job by giving the Seniors a night that will never be forgotten.

For A New Life

"Once Upon A Time"

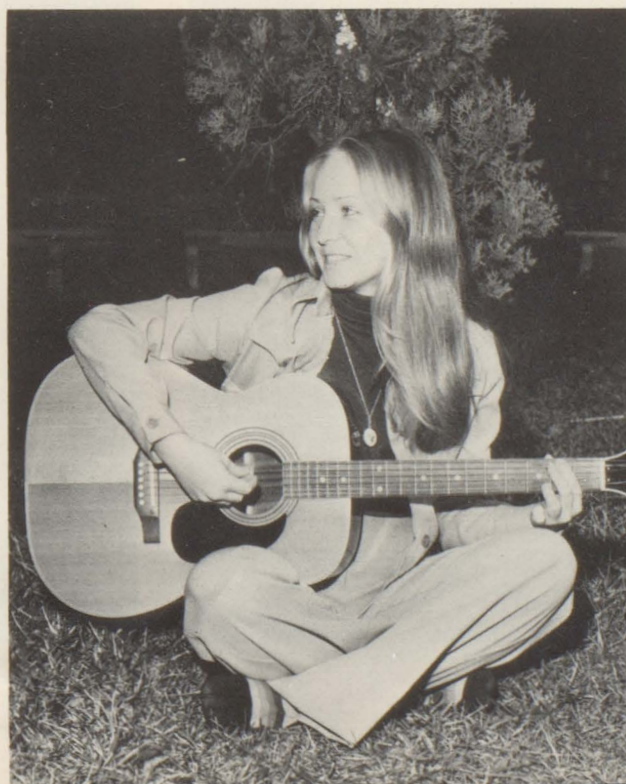

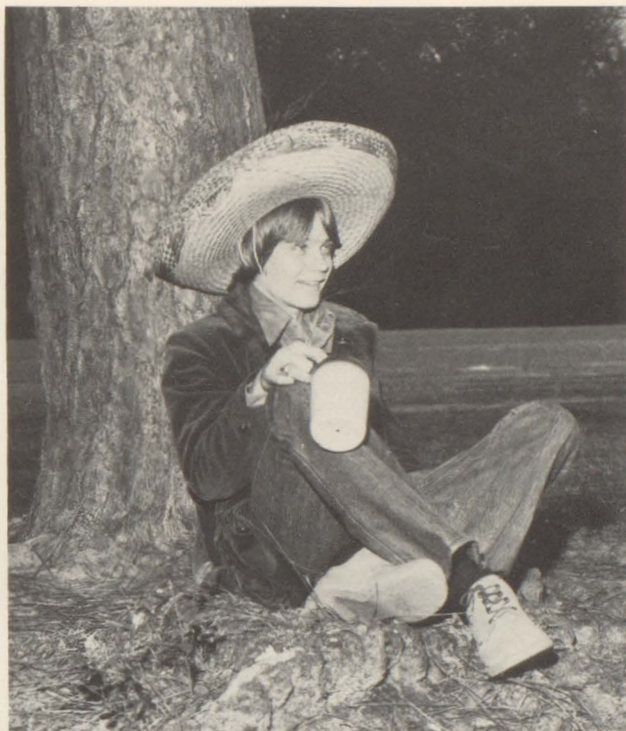

Once upon a time there was the Student Council. Now this Student Council had a lot of hard working members. One day they decided to have an annual formal dance and they called it the Winter Formal. In gay old month of December the Student Council got together and chose a band called Smokin' Joe.

The big City Hall room was decorated with bright streamers and Christmas novelties. The time drew near and work was completed. At the magical hour of 8:00 p.m. the dance began. This is the story of the Winter Formal.

Challenging . . . Amusing . . . Proud

Slow dances, laughter, fun, and "hard-rock-boogie-down music" were only a few of the activities going on at the Sophomore Hop. "Don't sit under the Apple Tree" was the theme for the event. Apple trees with initials carved in them, a white picket fence, and bushels of apples adorned the City Hall. Ambush provided the "jam" for the annual dance.

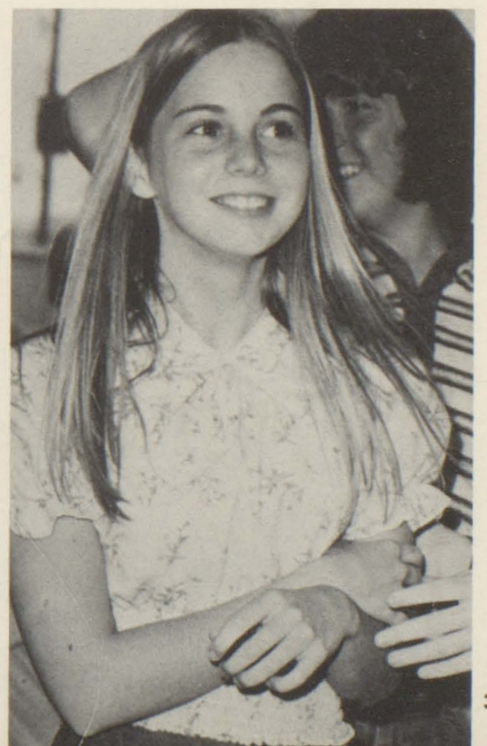

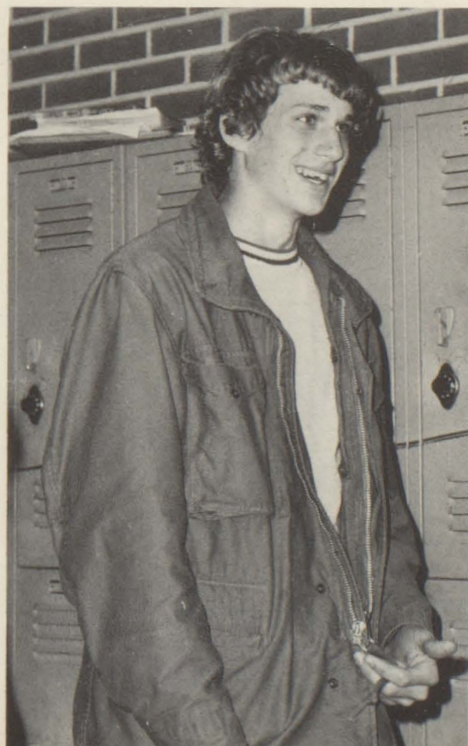

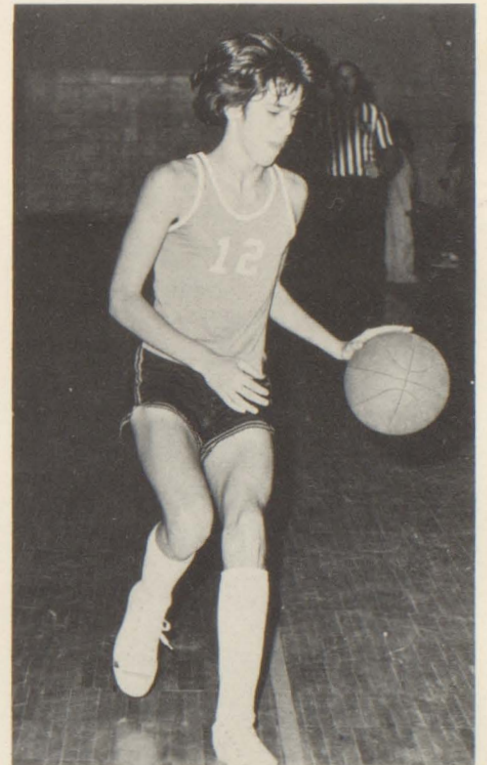

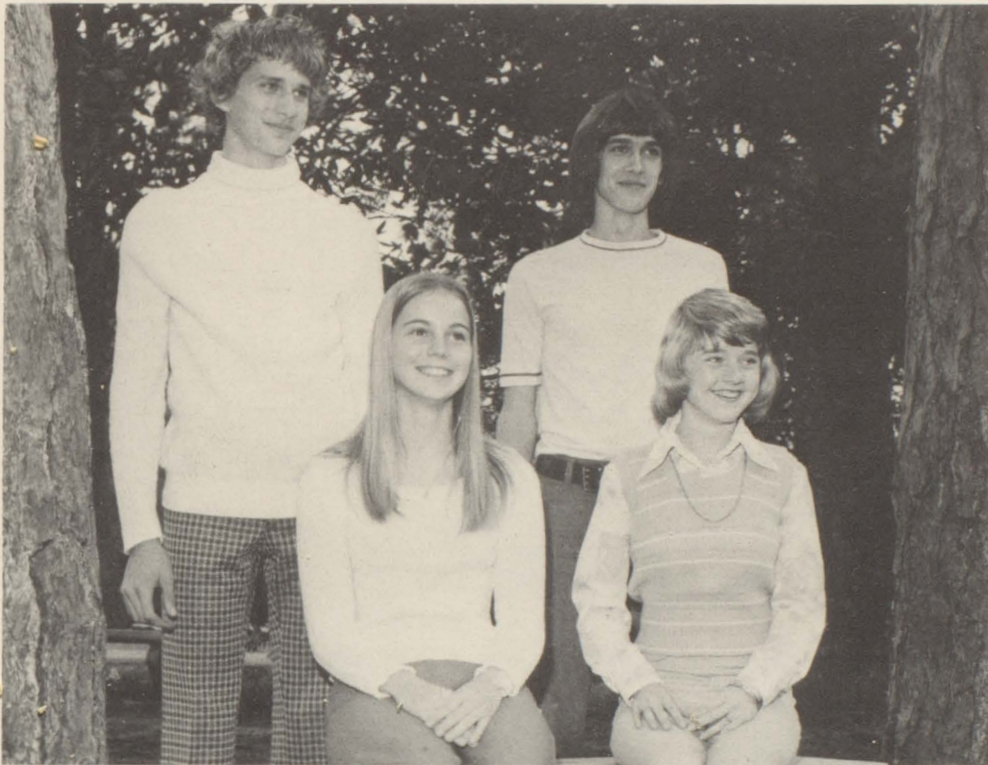

"Somewhere Over The Rainbow"

Bright flowers, glittering suns, colorful rainbows, and trickling raindrops carried out the theme "Somewhere Over The Rainbow" for the 1975 Freshman Frolic. Pictures were taken to provide the Freshmen with a keepsake of the big night. Music was provided from eight to twelve by "Sweetwater," a local band. The Frolic will long be remembered by the Freshman Class of '75.

So What's Wrong With A

Hippie Day was a final and fitting privilege for some 240-plus Seniors. On April 1, 1975, the world's largest water-balloon fight took place right there in the Senior Square. The day consisted of Seniors chasing Freshmen, Freshmen hiding from Seniors, water balloons flying from nowhere, wet clothes, and out-of-sight hippie clothes. Seniors spent many hours anticipating the one day when they could get away with anything . . . well almost anything! Hippie Day for Seniors of '75 was . . . well, thank goodness it only comes once a year.

B. Young of Bay Minette. The Freshman award winners were Shelia Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jackson, Jr.; and Clint Weekley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norville Weekley.

Hardworking Seniors Make

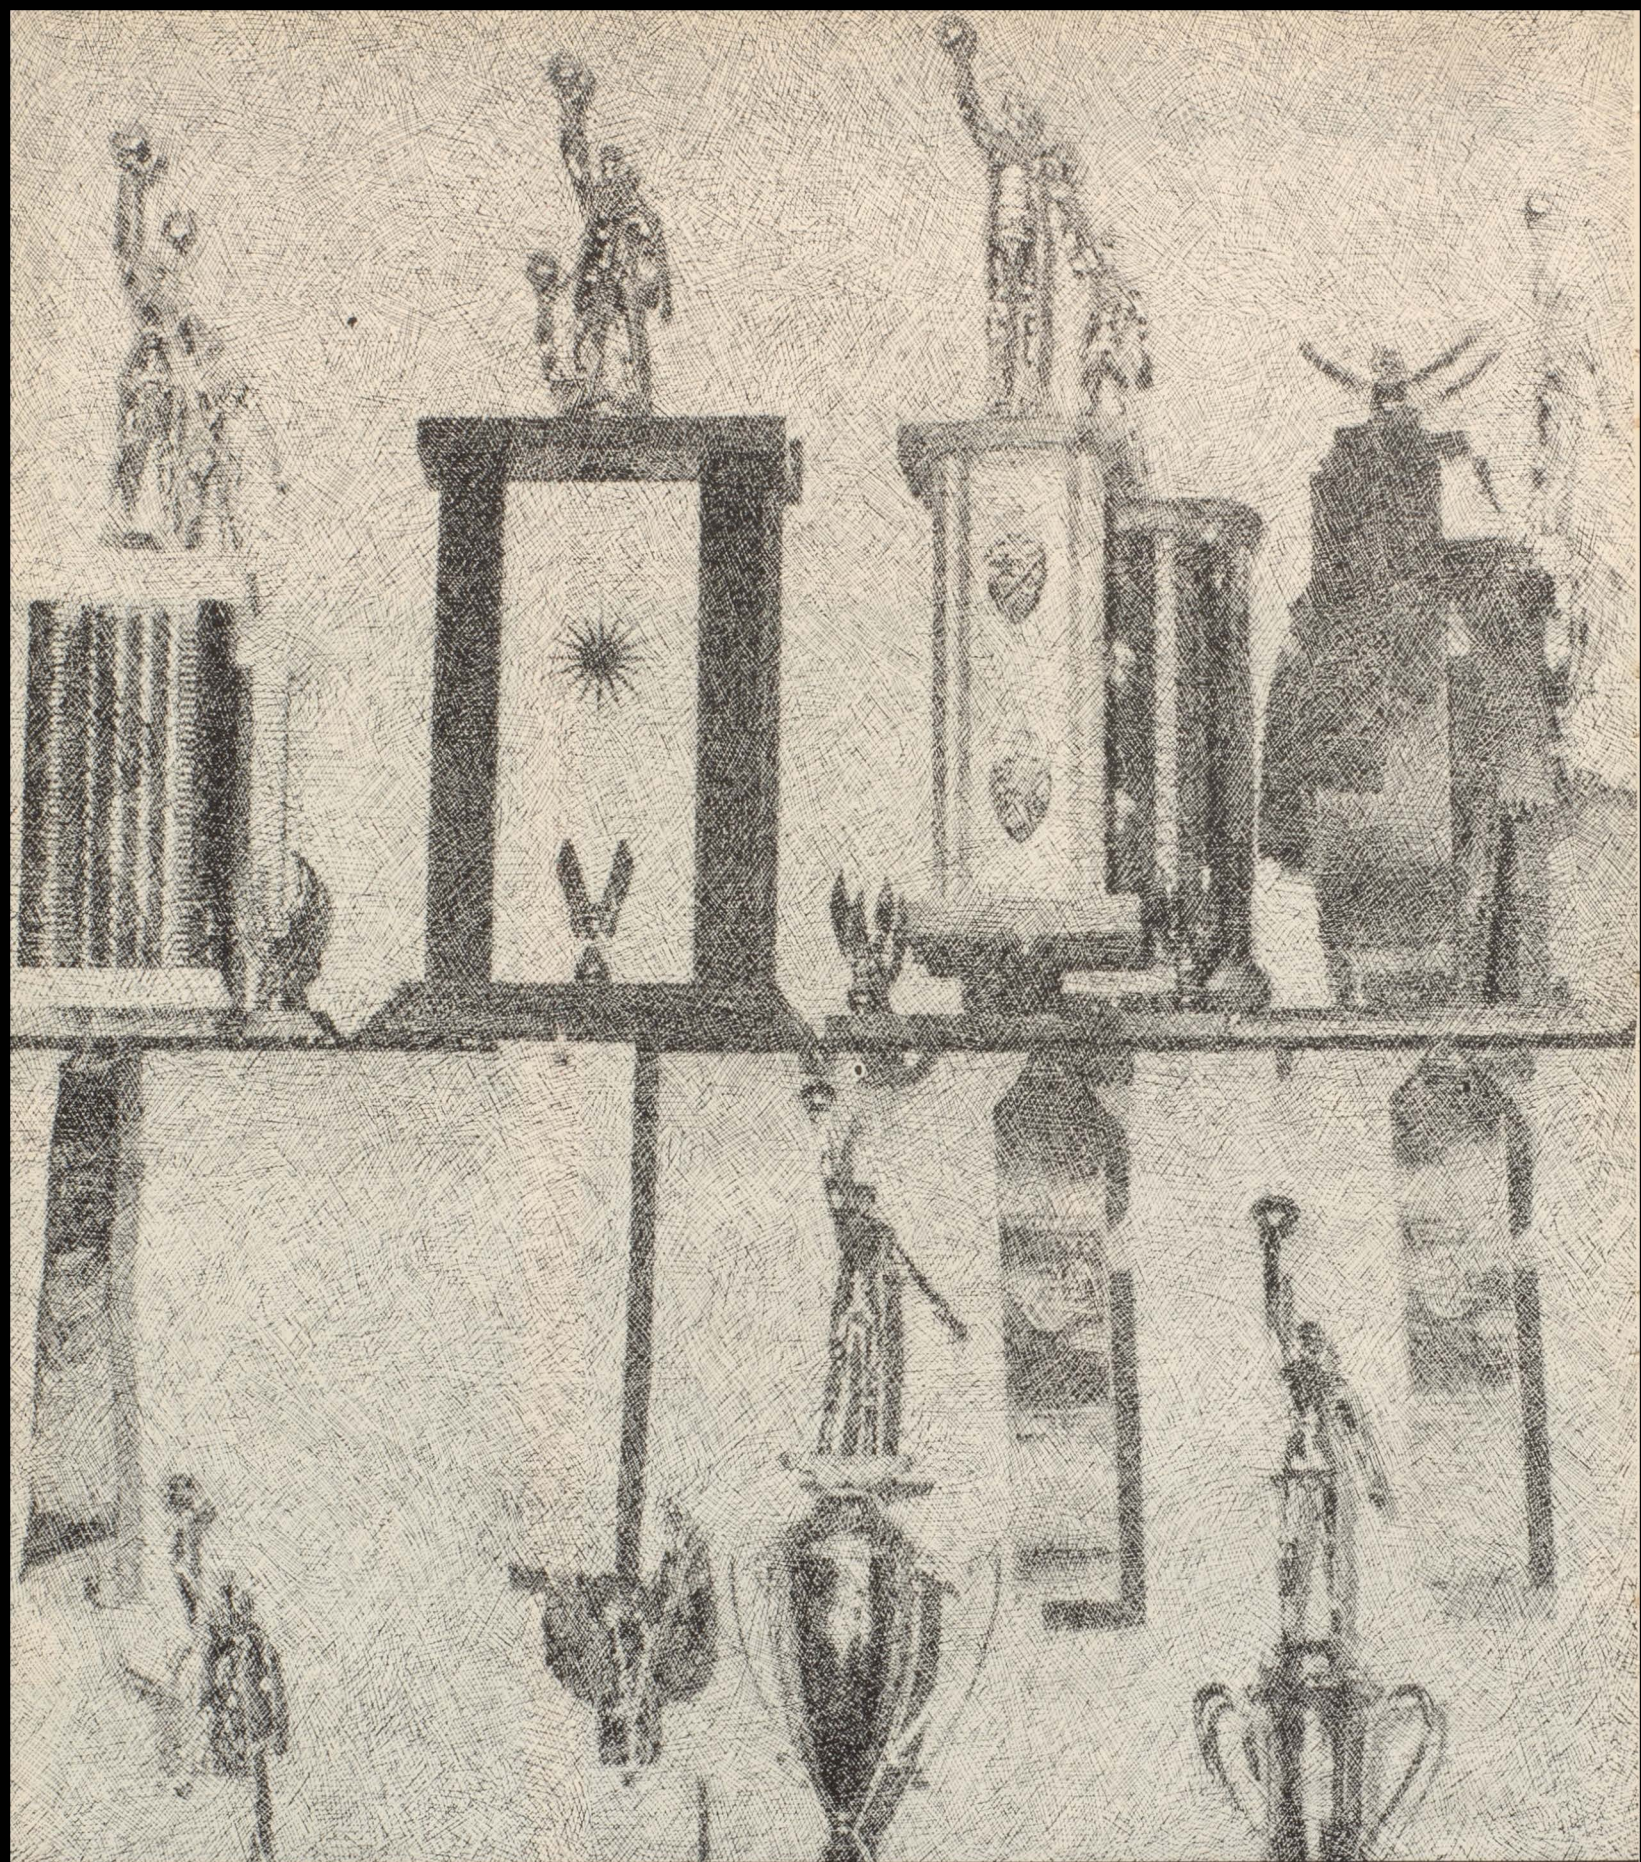

The Seniors of '75 proudly presented their play "Rock-N-Roll" February 28 and March 1 in the Bay Minette City Hall. Memories of the 50's era were relived by the cast under the direction of Ms. Linda Trawick. Properties were worked on by willing seniors and Ms. Wanda Ponthier. "Rock-N-Roll" was presented as a musical-comedy involving the problems of a fifties' teenager, Comdoggie. The Class of 1975 made the play a great success and cleared about $700.

N.H.S. Invaded

"Now that we have landed on earth, we must start the capturing procedures. Our mission is to bring earthlings back to our planet to help build our civilization. We are in need of persons with high standards of scholarship, service, leadership, and character. By utilizing and exemplifying these traits, we hope to counter negative forces which we have on our planet."

World Leader: "We have on our planet an organization entitled 'The NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY' which is made up of Juniors and Seniors who exemplify the characteristics you have mentioned. Membership in this organization is a strong reference to student's character and provides an impetus for consistent achievement and service to the school."

The Winner's Circle

The Student Council's various projects this year included: helping with the Friday afternoon pep rallies, coordinating for the Homecoming parade and dance, sponsoring assemblies along with the Christmas Formal, and buying and decorating the evergreen tree, but most important, the Student Council helped to make BCHS the best school to attend.

Opening The Door To Citizenship

The Key Club engaged in many activities during the year — both school and community projects. The highlight of the year was the International Convention in Houston, Texas held during the first week of July. Twenty-four Key Clubbers from Bay Minette traveled to Houston to attend the convention.

Some of the more important projects included the annual "Toys for Tots" drive in which toys were given to over 150 children, cleaning up the stadium after every home football game, operating a horror house at the PTA Halloween Carnival, and working with the special education classes at the Elementary School. This work included taking the children to the circus and giving them a Christmas party. Senior members and favorites each donated a pint of blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank. The club also raised over $1000 for the United Fund, over $600 for the American Cancer Society, and worked with the March of Dimes.

Make Somebody Happy

"Make Somebody Happy" was the goal for which the Interact Club strove. To obtain this goal, several projects were undertaken: poppies were sold for the DVA, a rummage sale was held and the books left over were given to the local jail, and the remainder of clothes and goods were taken to the welfare office. Interact members participated in the annual Homecoming and Kids' Day Parades and also supported Key Club's Toys for Tots drive during Christmas. A family of seven was provided with gifts at Christmas. The club is currently supporting a young boy in Brazil and also corresponding with fellow Interact Clubs in Canada and South America. Their main project was raising $300 for Camp ASSCA, a camp to be built for retarded children. Fun-time enjoyments included a beach party for the senior members, a Christmas supper, and basketball games with WBCA and the Key Club.

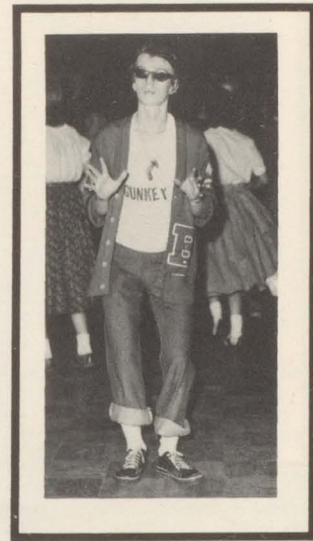

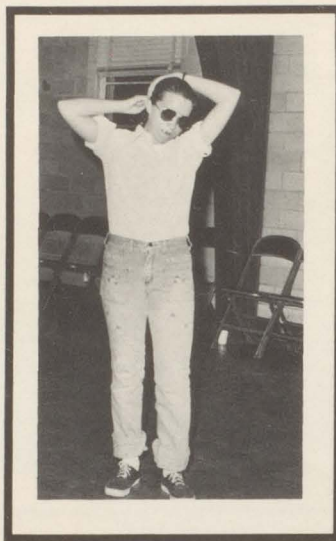

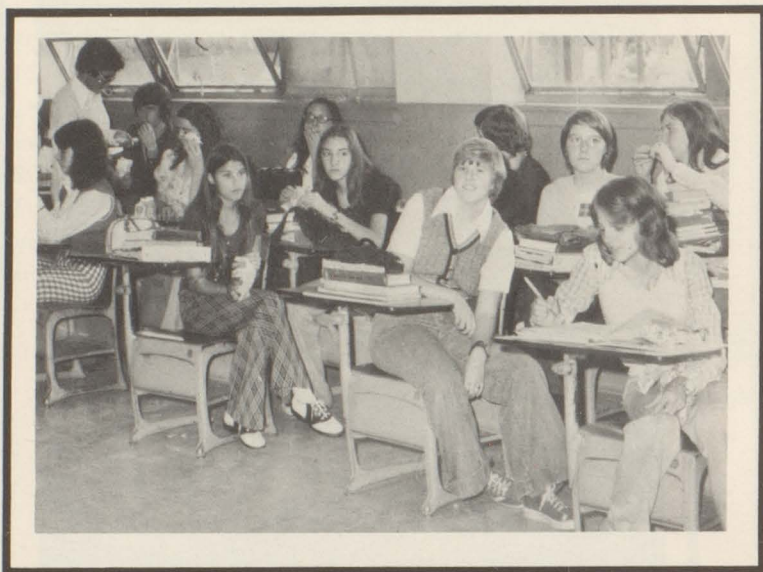

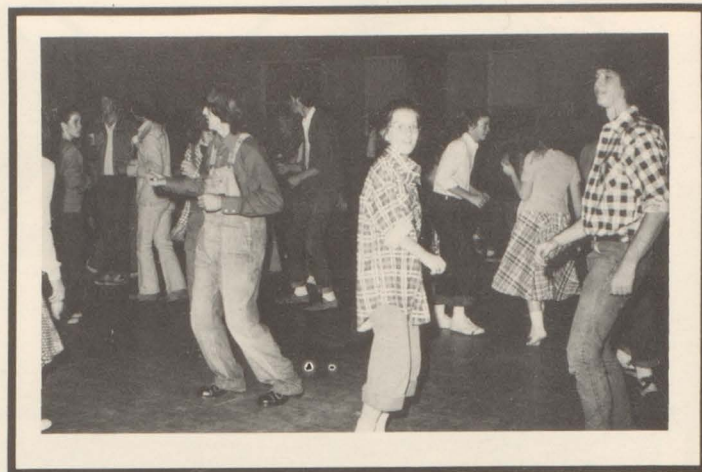

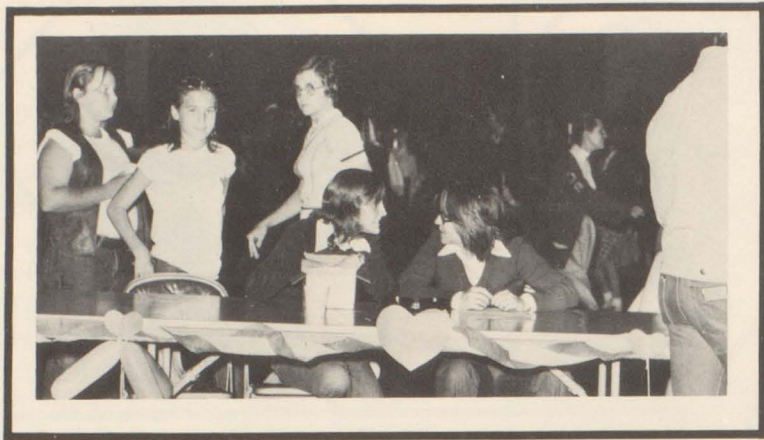

This year's convention was held at Gulf Shores and sponsored by the Bay Minette Interact Club.

Rockin' And Boppin' At The Hop

For the second year in a row, the Jr. Civitan sponsored the annual sock hop. Chicks with their dates came from miles around to Rock-N-Roll till the clock struck twelve. The Civitan Club held other activities during the year, such as, selling Halloween Candy, singing for the elderly at Villa Mercy, and helping clean up the school campus after home football games and the Halloween Carnival. Many of the Civitan projects portrayed the major goal and aim of the club — to create better citizens for the world — and by putting forth a little effort, they feel that they did their share.

Sharing Christ's Love

This year's FCA had one goal in mind: to tell others about Christ's love. And they did this in every possible way. Many Sundays, the FCA conducted church services in different churches. At Christmas, toys and other gifts were presented to the Armstrong family of Little River, making Christmas come alive for them. A drive was conducted to help with the Mothers' March of Dimes. Roadblocks were set up to help finance hospital bills for Micheal Williams, a young boy who was paralyzed in a car accident.

During the middle of the year, daily morning devotions came into being. This way each day began with prayer with each of the participants seeking God's guidance. One of the main achievements of the FCA was to get James Robison, a nationwide evangelist, to speak to the entire school during the last club day. They've worked hard to let everyone know about their inner joy, have you found it?

F.T.A. Becomes — SAFE

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Eleanor Underwood and Miss Ruth West, and the leadership of the officers: Pres., Kay Wasdin; Vice-Pres., Terry Bailey; Treasurer, Cathy Lee; Secretary, Sharon White; and Historian Lynne Hall, the nearly 100 members of the Student Action For Education Club made this year the best yet. Several projects were undertaken such as: a car in the Homecoming parade; hosting the District meeting; having two District officers chosen from our chapter; a Valentine Day Sucker Sale; sending six delegates to the State convention; and, as always, teaching in grammar school. This was a very active and enjoyable year for the SAFE Club.

F.F.A. Beautifies School Campus

While learning new methods to develop agriculture, the members of the FFA took time out to construct a sign in front of the Home Economics and Ag Departments. The sign bears the FFA emblem and the names of the Departments in the surrounding area.

Chosen as 1974-75 FFA Sweethearts were Brenda Tuttle and Madis Hooks (Right). Presidents of the Blue and Gold Chapters of the FFA were Tommy Bryars and Abraham French. These students, along with advisors, Mr. Larry Pate and Mr. Elbert McCants, conducted the FFA in a manner which portrayed agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship as major goals for all Future Farmers.

Toward New Horizons

FHA has been very busy the past year with several activities which involve all students enrolled in Home Economics. At the beginning of the year, the girls constructed a float bearing the theme: "Going Home With A Tiger Victory." The local Beef-Cook-Off was held November 14, and next came the Officers' Christmas Party. The girls sold stationery and sponges in order to hold the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet and Fashion Show on February 13 at the City Hall.

Training Our Future

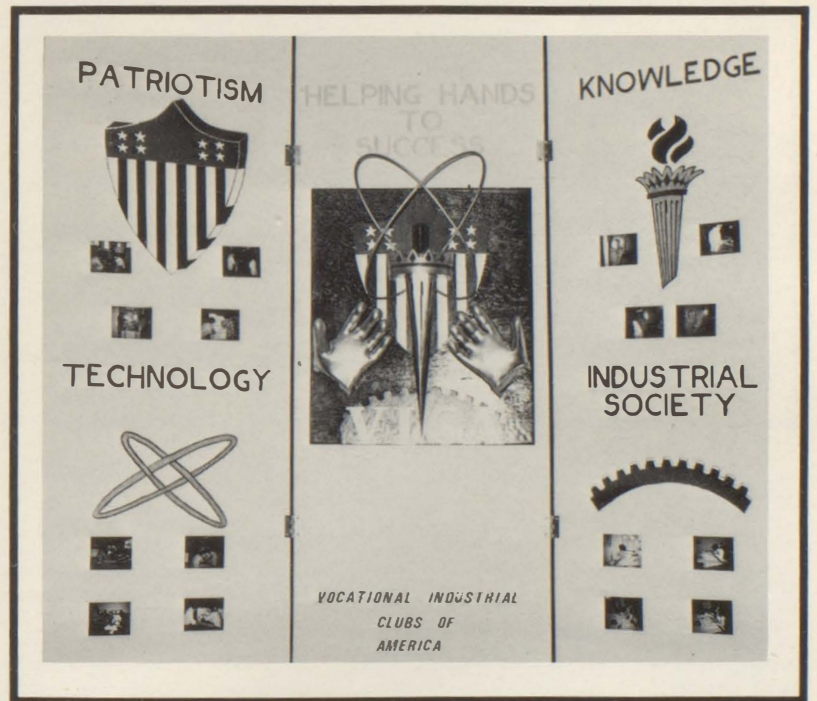

Today's society is one which calls for technicians and skilled laborers. At the Vocational School, young students are being trained to work for and in the industries of today.

The Alabama VICA District VII Leadership Conference was held at Selma, Alabama. Bay Minette VICA won 17 first place ribbons, 3 second place, and 2 third place awards. Also, Pres. Pete Conway earned the title of Mr. VICA for 1974-75. As members of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, BCHS students are doing their part to keep our world turning. FFA Plans Today For Tomorrow

The future farmers strive for leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. During the beginning of the year, they are taught the basics of agriculture. From there, they learn about the soil and how it affects plant growth, and in certain departments, machinery work and construction is taught. In future years, many lives will depend upon the skills of these young men.

Our "Fair" FHA

The Vocational Center FHA was comprised of the Child Care and Clothing Departments. Their main project for the year was participating in the Greater Gulf State Fair in Mobile. Their fairbooth won fourth place.

Our Business Leaders Of Tomorrow

This year's FBLA was really on the move. Field trips were taken all during the year to different businesses in the area, such as S'Kahalley's, the First Alabama Bank, Ball-Co., and the Baldwin County Bank. Various persons spoke during meetings of the FBLA, giving information to the students concerning their future careers. Many activities were performed such as sponsoring a Boys Beauty Contest and helping needy children at Christmas. All of these happenings helped produce students who are ready to lead the businesses of tomorrow.

Boys' Tennis Racks It Up

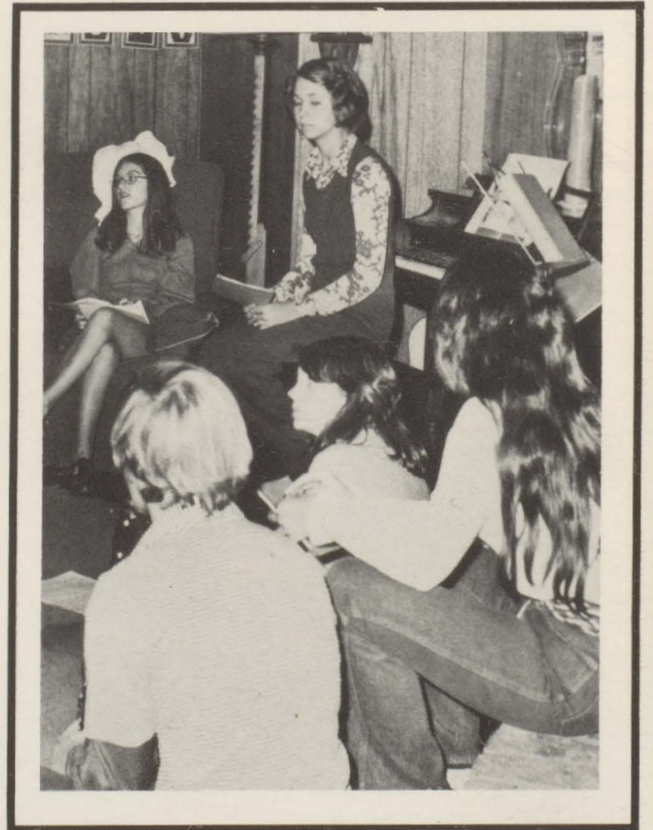

The Boys' Tennis Club was again under the supervision of Coach Charles McKinney. During the meetings, matches were played and skills were learned. As the year passed by, the boys learned not only the fundamentals of tennis but also the ability to display good sportsmanship.

Vocational Center — A Source Of Training Experience

Since its construction three years ago, the Area Trade Center served as an important educational phase of Baldwin County High School.

Students are offered a vast curriculum of vocations from which to choose. Mr. Byron Nall has been director of the school since its opening and is backed by an excellent team of vocational instructors.

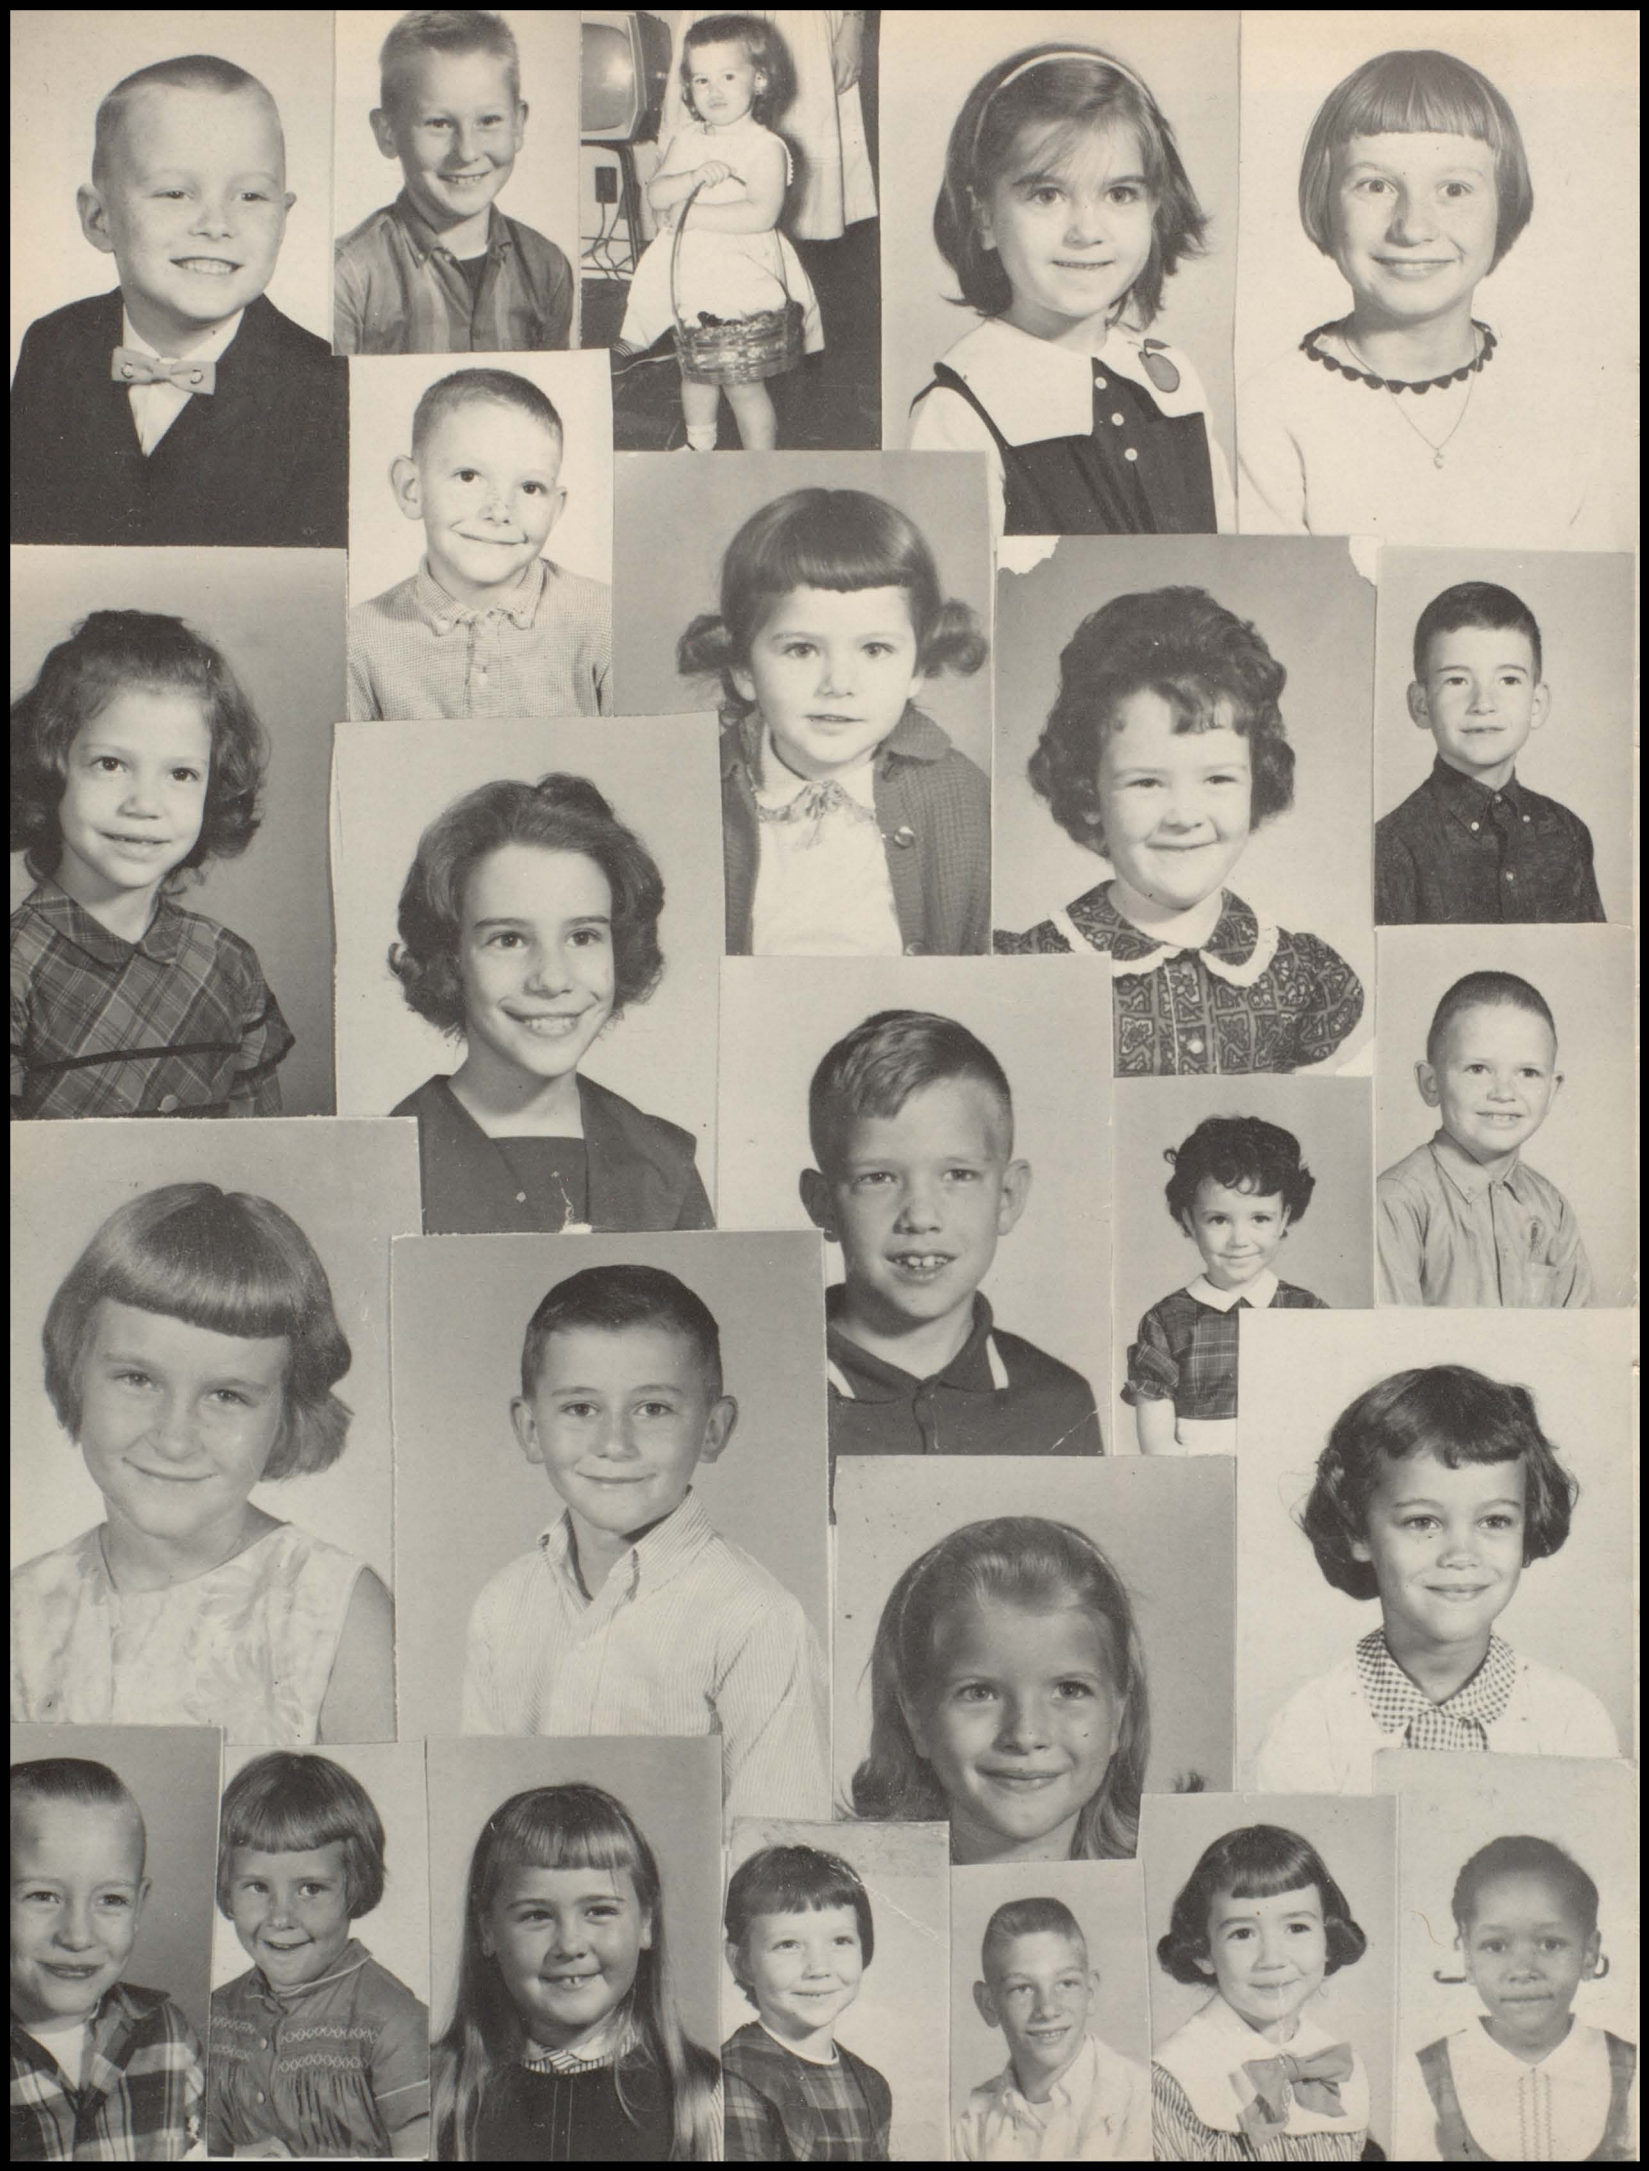

Training in vocations is vitally important, and students of Baldwin County High School as well as the people of Bay Minette have reason to be very proud of the facility.

LAST GOODBYE

The BALCOALA staff says "THANKS," Miss Leonard. Enjoy yourself.

Often your tasks will be many,
And more than you think you can do . . .
Often the road will be rugged
And the hills insurmountable, too.
But always remember the hills ahead
Are never as steep as they seem
And with Faith in your heart start upward
And climb 'til you reach your dream.
For nothing in life that is worthy
Is ever too hard to achieve.
If you have the courage to try it
And you have the Faith to believe.
For Faith is a force that is greater
Than knowledge or power or skill
And many defeats turn to triumph
If you trust in God's wisdom and will
For Faith is a mover of mountains —
There's nothing that God cannot do.
So start out today with Faith in your heart
And "Climb 'Til Your Dream Comes True"!

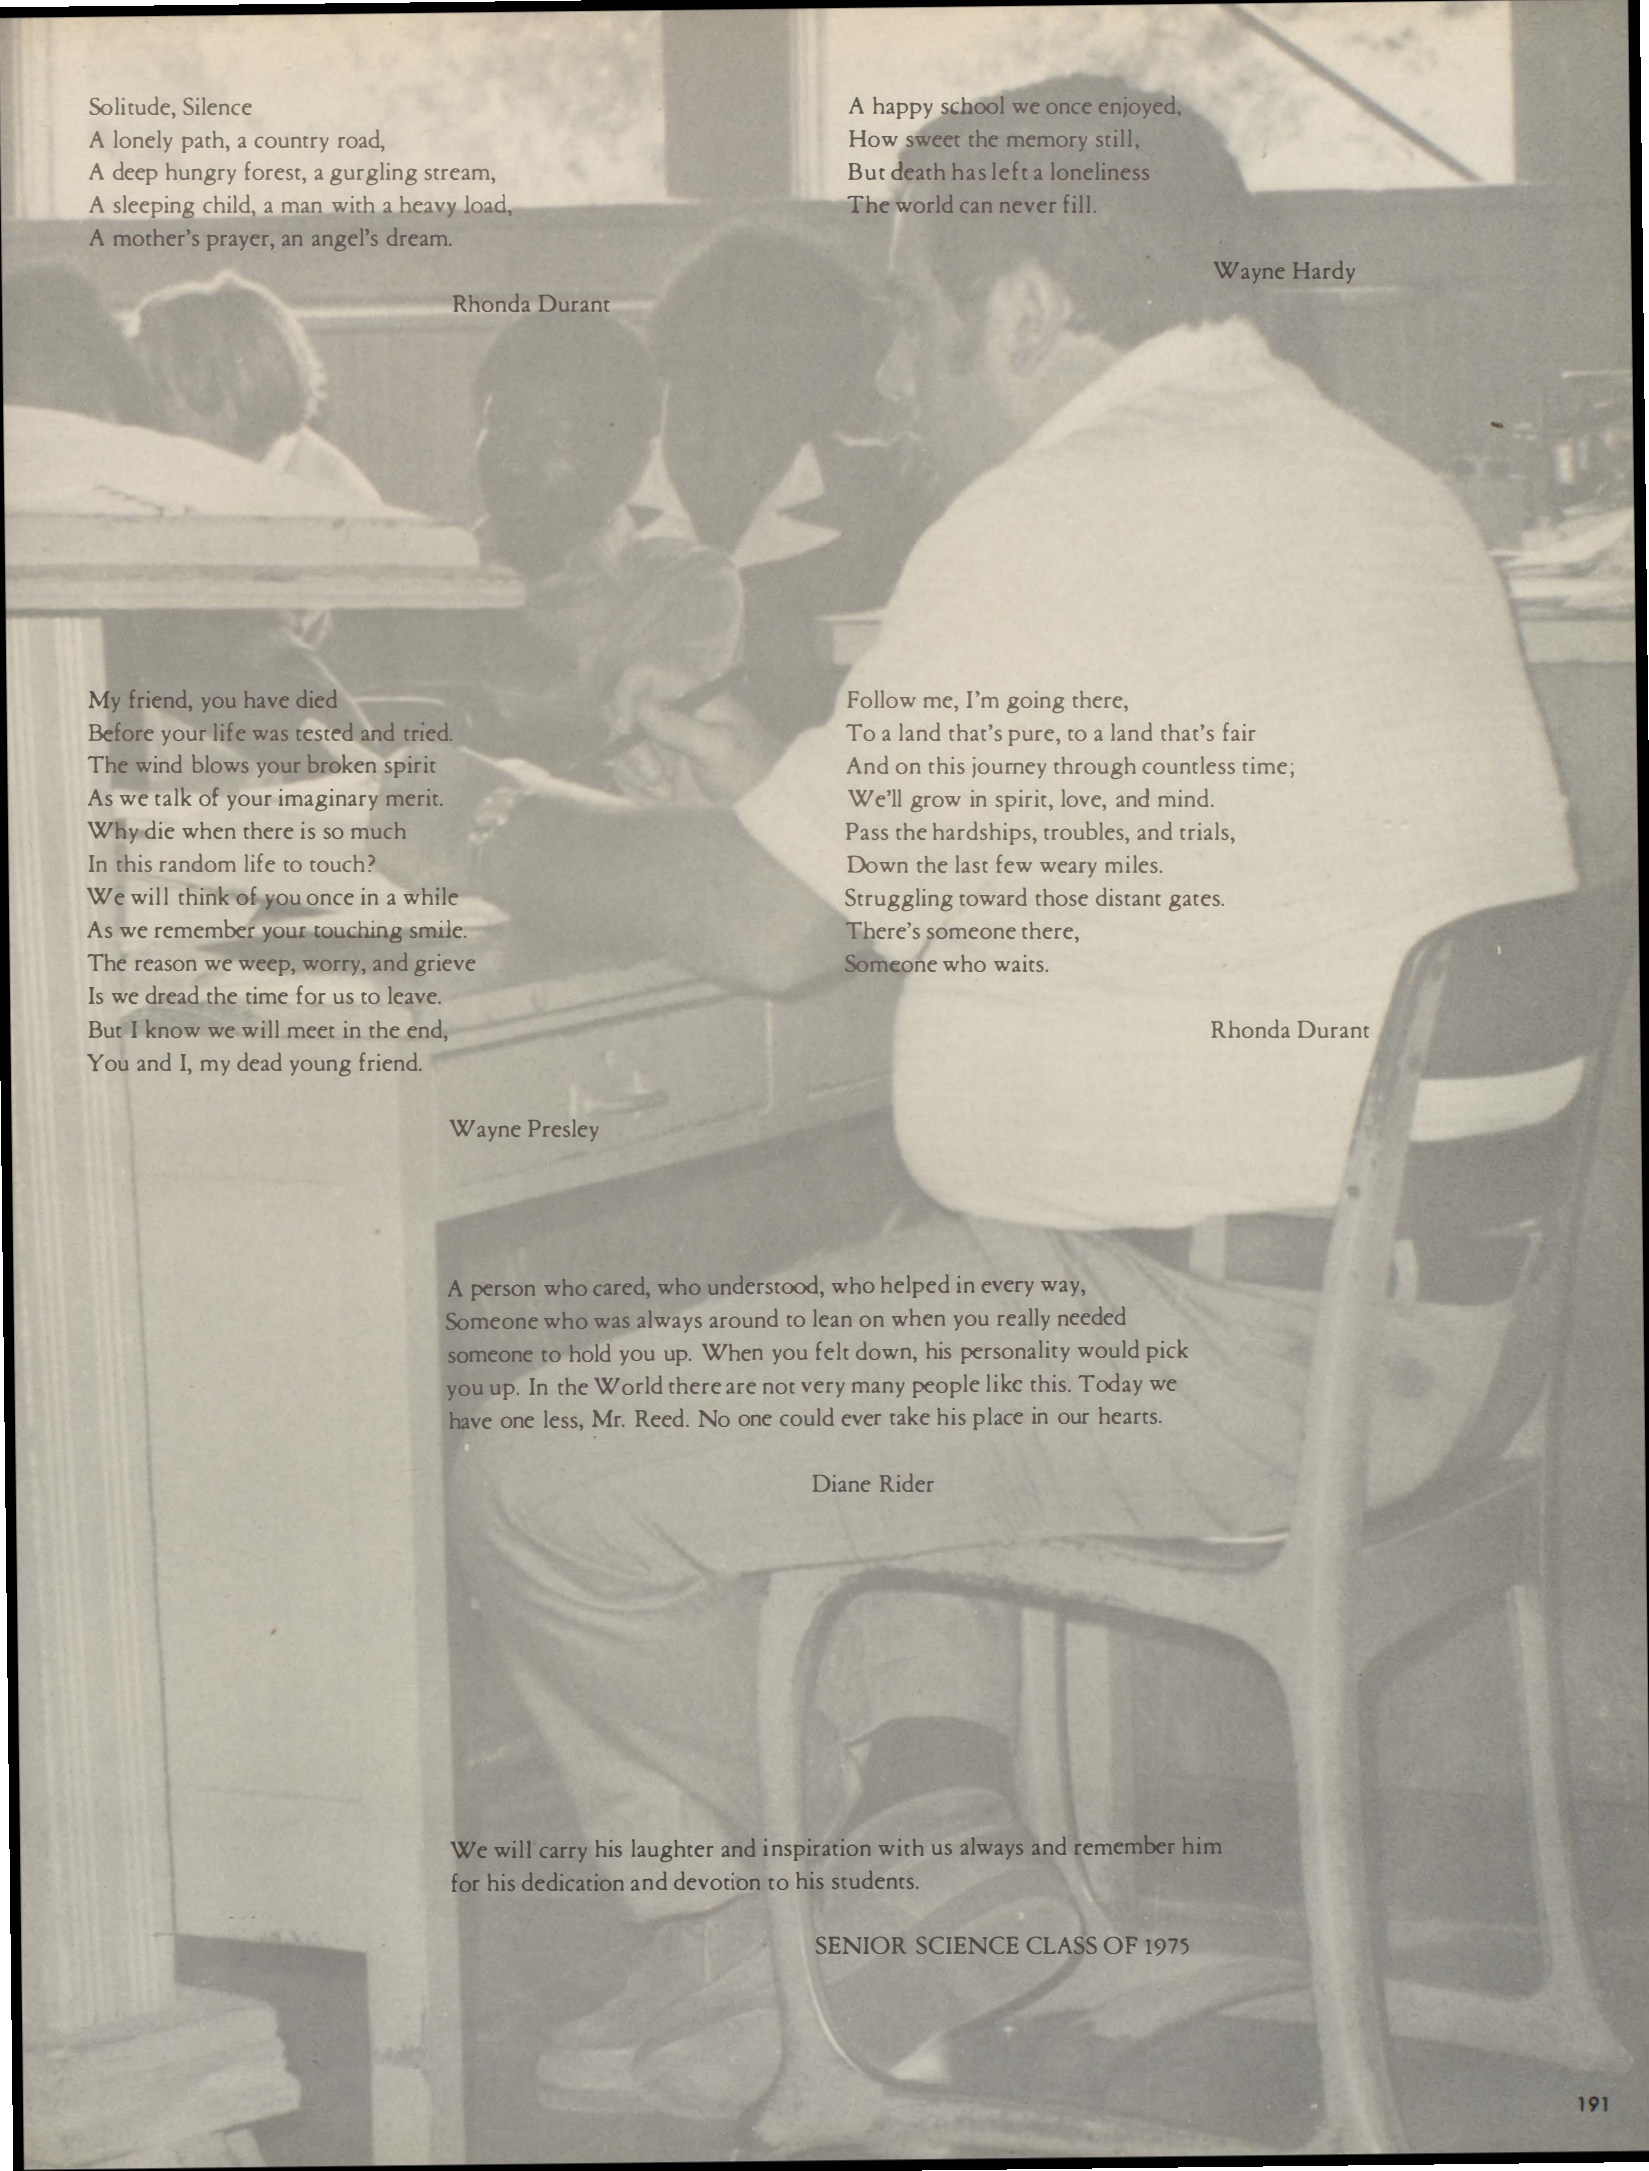

Helen Steiner Rice

The Lord bless thee, and keep thee:
The Lord make his face shine upon thee,
and be gracious unto thee:
The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee,
and give thee peace."

Numbers 6:24-26

SENIORS '75, BEST OF LUCK! And thanks, George, for helping me move!

Mrs. Ponthier

Solitude, Silence

A lonely path, a country road,
A deep hungry forest, a gurgling stream,
A sleeping child, a man with a heavy load,
A mother's prayer, an angel's dream.

Rhonda Durant

A happy school we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Wayne Hardy

My friend, you have died
Before your life was tested and tried.
The wind blows your broken spirit
As we talk of your imaginary merit.
Why die when there is so much
In this random life to touch?
We will think of you once in a while
As we remember your touching smile.
The reason we weep, worry, and grieve
Is we dread the time for us to leave.
But I know we will meet in the end,
You and I, my dead young friend.

Wayne Presley

Follow me, I'm going there,
To a land that's pure, to a land that's fair
And on this journey through countless time;
We'll grow in spirit, love, and mind.
Pass the hardships, troubles, and trials,
Down the last few weary miles.
Struggling toward those distant gates.
There's someone there,
Someone who waits.

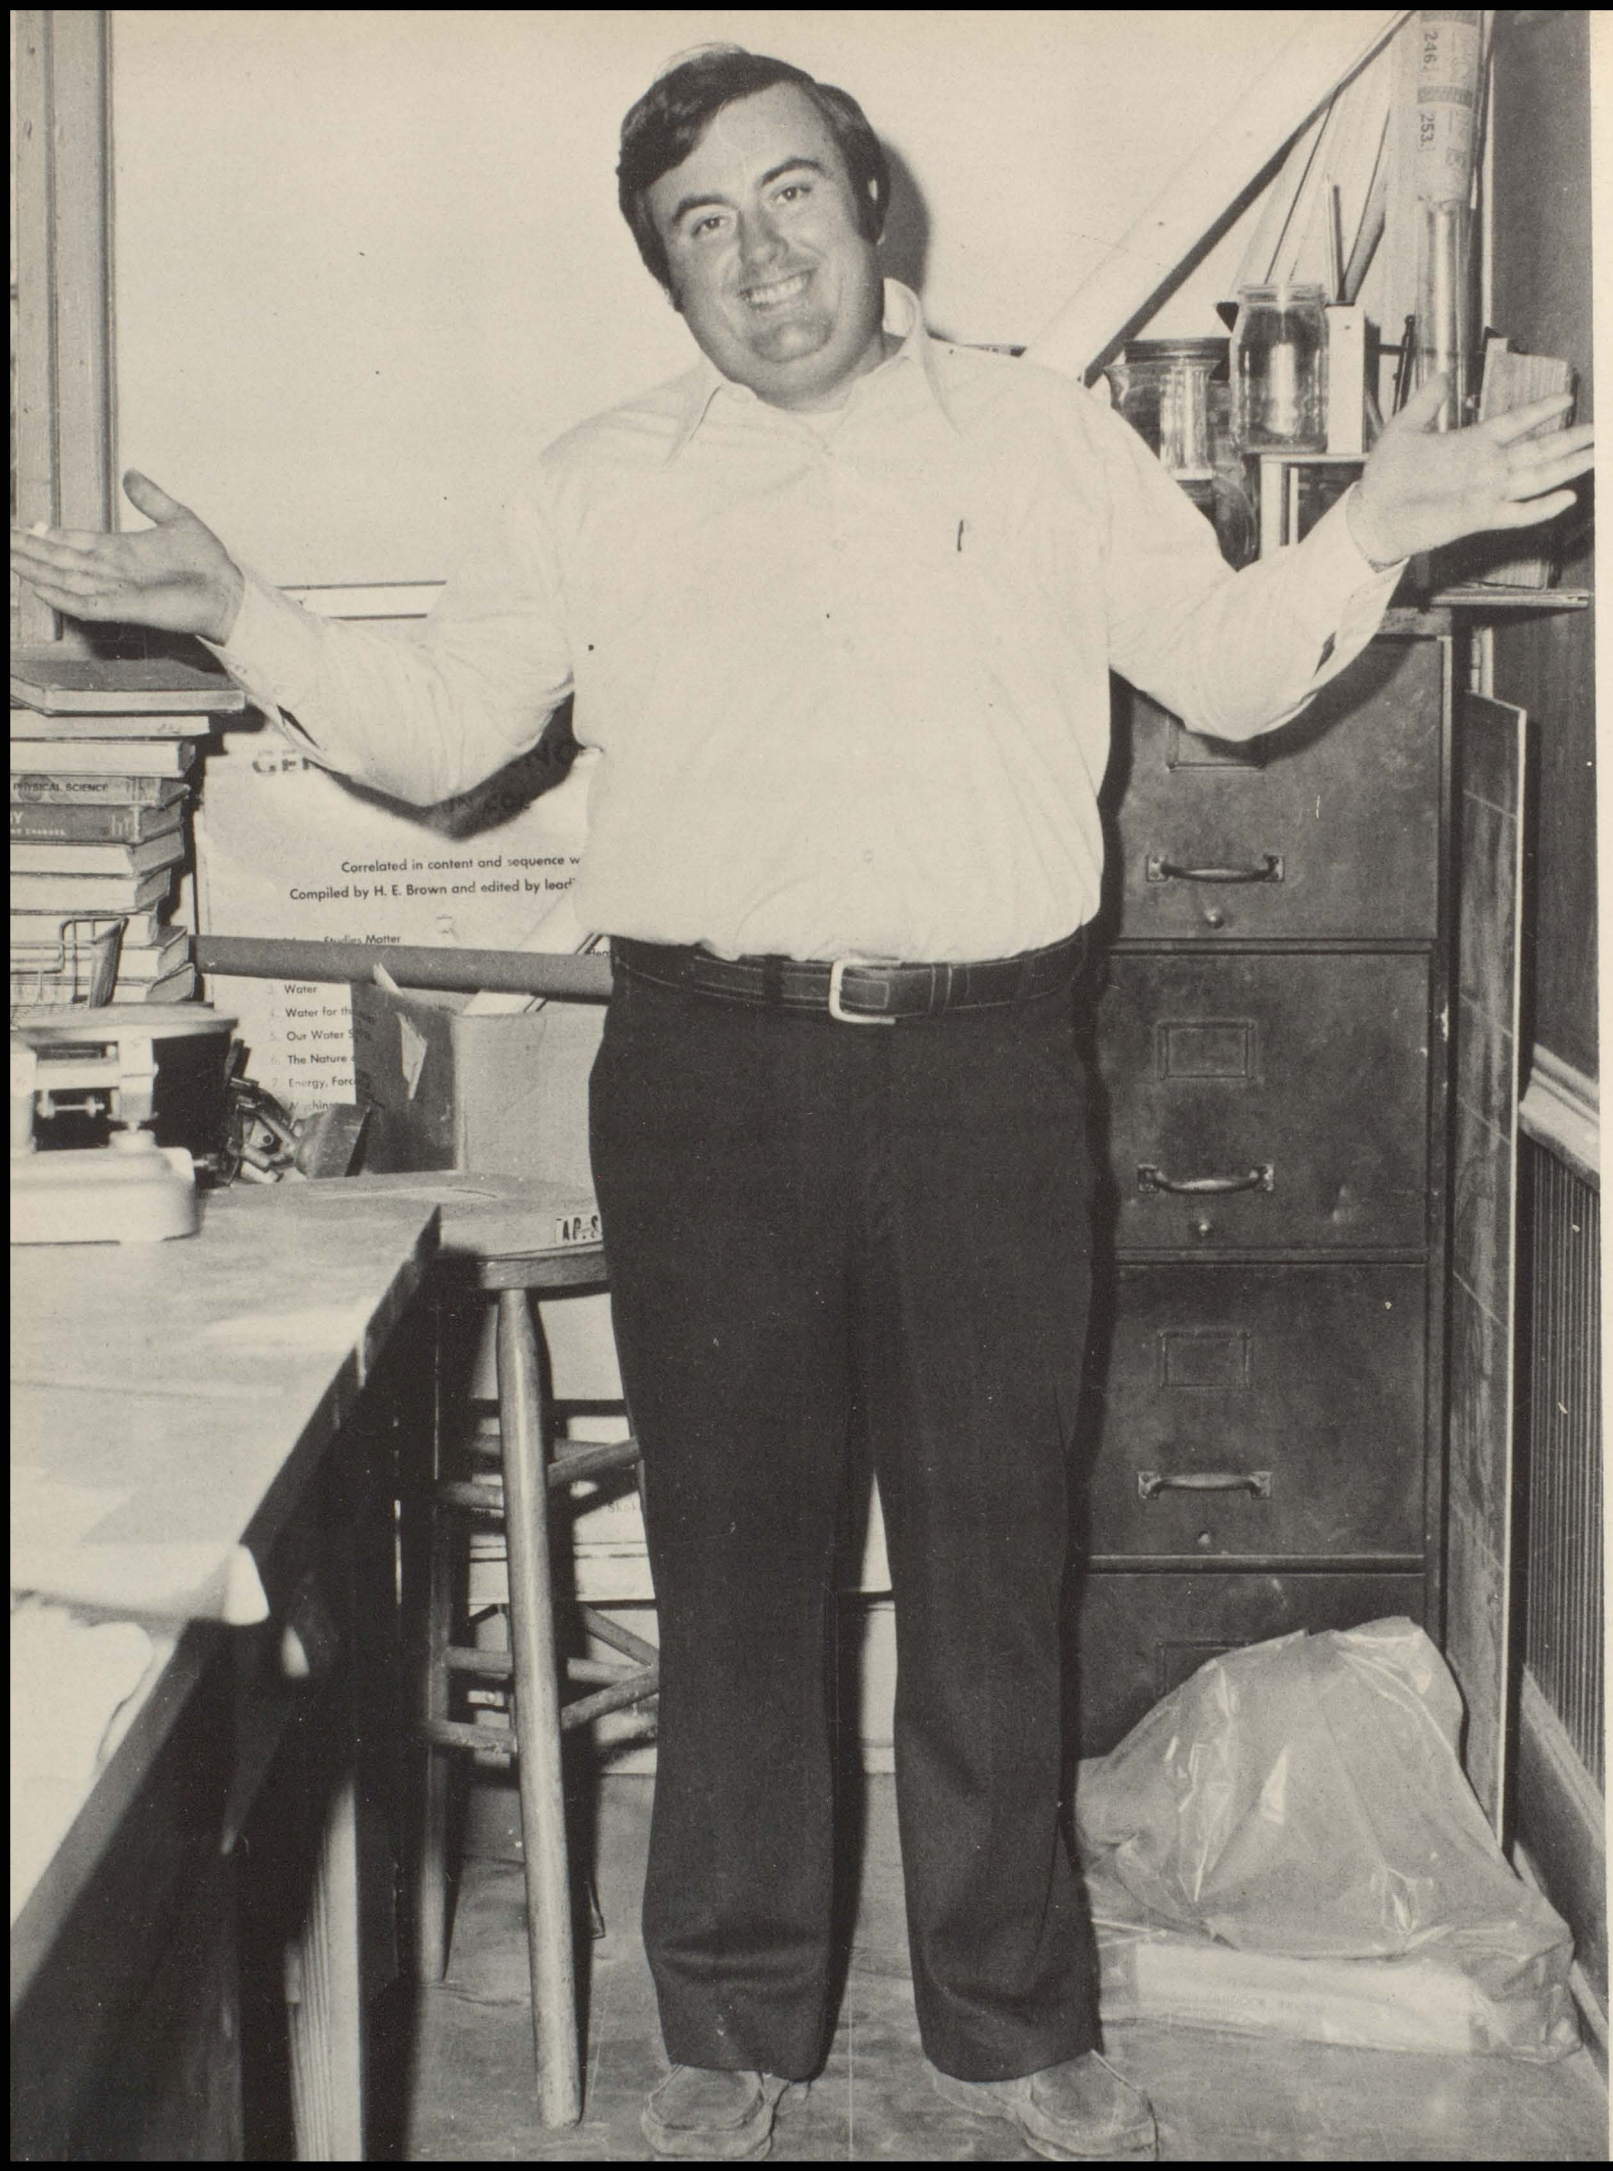

Rhonda Durant

A person who cared, who understood, who helped in every way,
Someone who was always around to lean on when you really needed someone to hold you up. When you felt down, his personality would pick you up. In the World there are not very many people like this. Today we have one less, Mr. Reed. No one could ever take his place in our hearts.

Diane Rider

We will carry his laughter and inspiration with us always and remember him for his dedication and devotion to his students.

Mr. Reed gave me the courage to understand myself and those around me. He urged me to develop self confidence. He jokingly said, "You have to learn to rely on yourself; after all, you won't always have people around to tell you what to do and how to do it." Then he would give me a pass to my next teacher. The pass would say, "I kept Maryanne after class for a pep talk." He cared!

Maryanne Harris

Death, do not show your morbid face.
Without warning you come creeping
in and place
a death kiss
on the ones
we love.
You have made eternal enemies, and I cannot defend you.
For you have taken a soul that I cared for.

Leah Ann Quinley

Talked, joked, and kidded so,
Dear God, why did he have to go?
Man of honor, man of faith,
Loving father for his family's sake.

Teacher of heart, teacher of brain,
Why oh why was his heart the blame?
Experienced for a teacher,
Very seldom a preacher.

Steadily walking across the floor,
Making speeches by the door.
The talk of homework was seldom heard,
And never was our class disturbed.

He was one of a kind,
One that couldn't be despised,
One like him so thoughtful and kind,
One I shall never forget in all of my mind.
Delilah Smith

Shadows of Death
Black fingers of death,
Overshadow the meek,
Clutch the powerful,
Merciless are they.

Shadows of death
Darken loved one's lives
Cover whispers of hope,
Merciless are they.

The Angel of Death
Relieves the pain.
Prepares the soul for better things,
Merciless, yes, yet merciful.

Cathy Lee

Where is he, Mama?
We can't find him anywhere.
Hush, Child,
He's gone!

Where is he, Mama?
He's not in his room
Studying his books.
Hush, Child,
He's gone!

Where is he, Mama?
We saw him yesterday.
Hush, Child,
He's gone!

Where is he, Mama?
We want him to help us.
Hush, Child,
He's gone!

Where is he, Mama?
We want to know.
Hush, Child,
He's gone!

Where is he, God?
Where is he?
Hush, Child,
He's here . . .

Karen Bryant

Death
Sorrow, tears,
Hurt, snatch,
A lonely wife
Mr. Reed.

Katherine Valree

Oh, Dear God, I pray,
That each and every day we may
Remember the many good deeds
Of Mr. Tim Reed.

Bless him, Dear God,
For we all loved him so;
But yet we wonder why
Did he have to go.

He joked, he smiled,
He never had a frown,
And never did you see him
Letting the blues get him down.

One last thing, Dear God,
That I would like to say,
Never will he be forgotten,
Never and a day.

Tribby Welch

He wasn't very old; about 31 I guess.
All that knew him loved him.
Including me, I must confess.

He wasn't just a teacher you know,
He was a friend,
The kind that just seemed to glow.

All our tears won't bring him back, though
But, Oh dear God, I wish they could
Just so he could watch his children grow.

I wonder if he knows how much we miss him.
Just to think all the times we've laughed
Because I called him "Uncle Tim."

I hope he knows right now
It's hard to feel.
It's awful weird, but it's true;
Sometimes only memories seem real.

A Rose was plucked from our garden
And it will be missed very much.
Twas a beautiful red Rose
With best of a gardener's touch.
Twas larger than most of the others
And a more beautiful red can't be.
It stood looking up at a mountain,
And was looking back over the sea.
Them came a Man from the valley
Who took our Rose that day.
He plucked it up very carefully
And then he carried it away.
He planted It in his garden
And only It's kind was there.
Tis the most beautiful garden ever
And only the roses can bear.
And someday, maybe soon
I hope to meet Him there.

People running round and round,
From where are they coming,
To where are they bound?
Is life the beginning?
Is death the end?
I want to know more, So I ask again,
What is the meaning of beginning and end?

So the little prince tamed the Tiger. And when the hour of his departure drew near —

“Ah,” said the Tiger, “I shall cry.”

“It is your own fault,” said the little prince. “I never wished you any sort of harm; but you wanted me to tame you . . .”

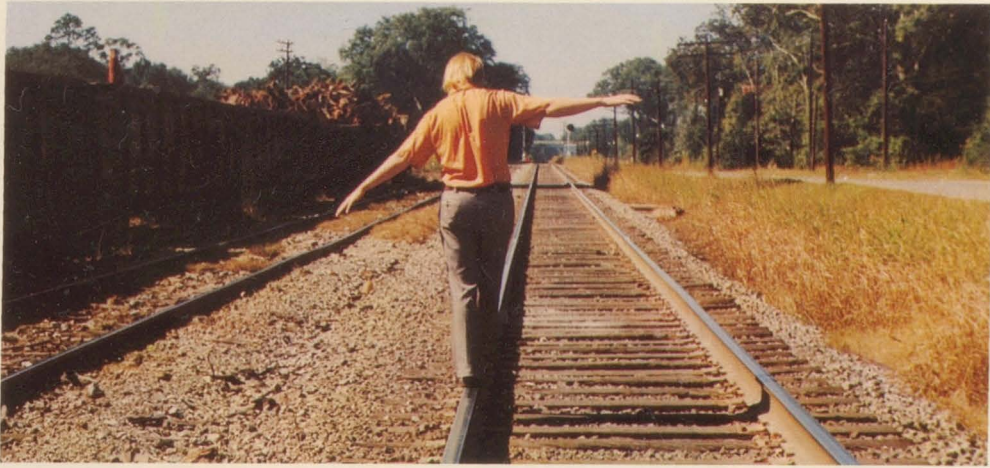

“Yés, that is so,” said the Tiger.

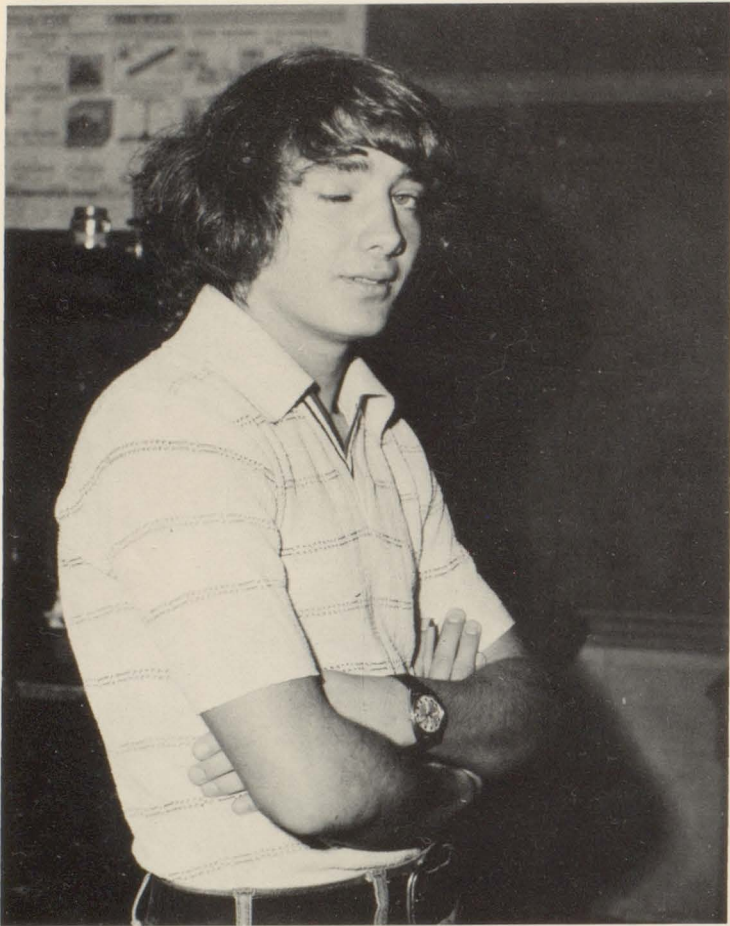

“But now you are going to cry!” said the little prince.

“Yes, that is so,” said the Tiger.

“Then it has done you no good at all!”

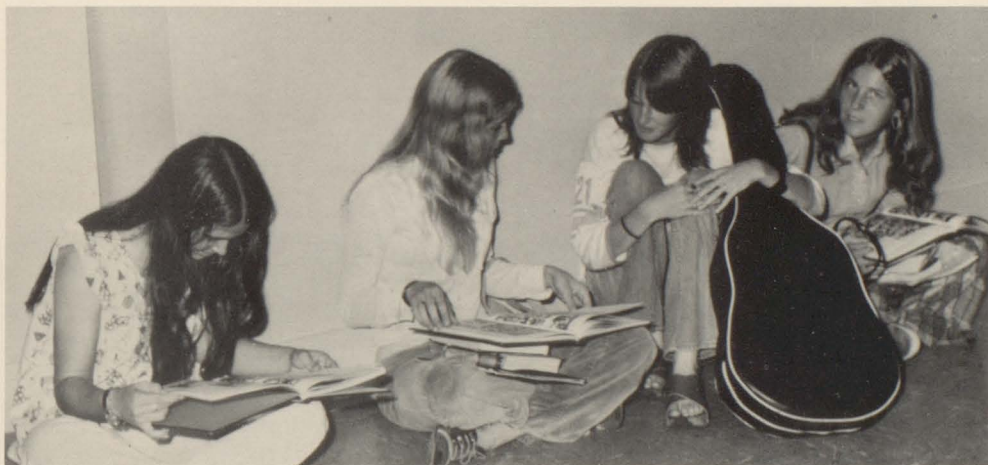

"It has done me good," said the Tiger, "because of the color of the wheat fields." And then he added:

"Go and look again at the roses. You will understand now that yours is unique in all the world. Then come back to say goodbye to me, and I will make you a present of a secret."

The little prince went away, to look again at the roses.
"You are not at all like my rose," he said. "As yet you are nothing. No one has tamed you, and you have tamed no one. You are like my Tiger when I first knew him. He was only a Tiger like a hundred thousand other Tigers. But I have made him my friend, and now he is unique in all the world."
And the roses were very much embarrassed.

"You are beautiful, but you are empty," he went on. "One could not die for you. To be sure, an ordinary passerby would think that my rose looked just like you — the rose that belongs to me. But in herself alone she is more important than all the hundreds of you other roses: Because it is she that I have watered; because it is she that I have put under the glass globe; because it is she that I have sheltered behind the screen; because it is for her that I have killed the caterpillars (except the two or three that we saved to become butterflies); because it is she that I have listened to, when she grumbled, or boasted, or even sometimes when she said nothing. Because she is MY rose."

And he went back to meet the Tiger.

"Goodbye," he said.

"Goodbye," said the Tiger.

"And now here is my secret, a very simple secret: It is only with the heart that one can see rightly; what is essential is invisible to the eye."

"What is essential is invisible to the eye," the little prince repeated, so that he would be sure to remember.

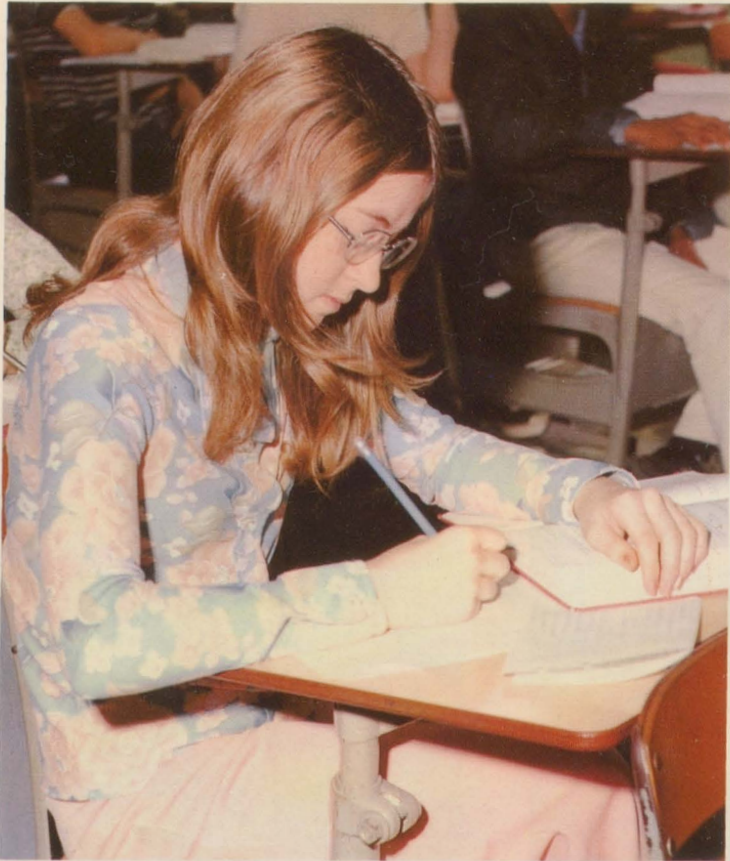

"It is the time you have wasted for your rose that makes your rose so important."

"It is the time I have wasted for my rose —" said the little prince, so that he would be sure to remember.

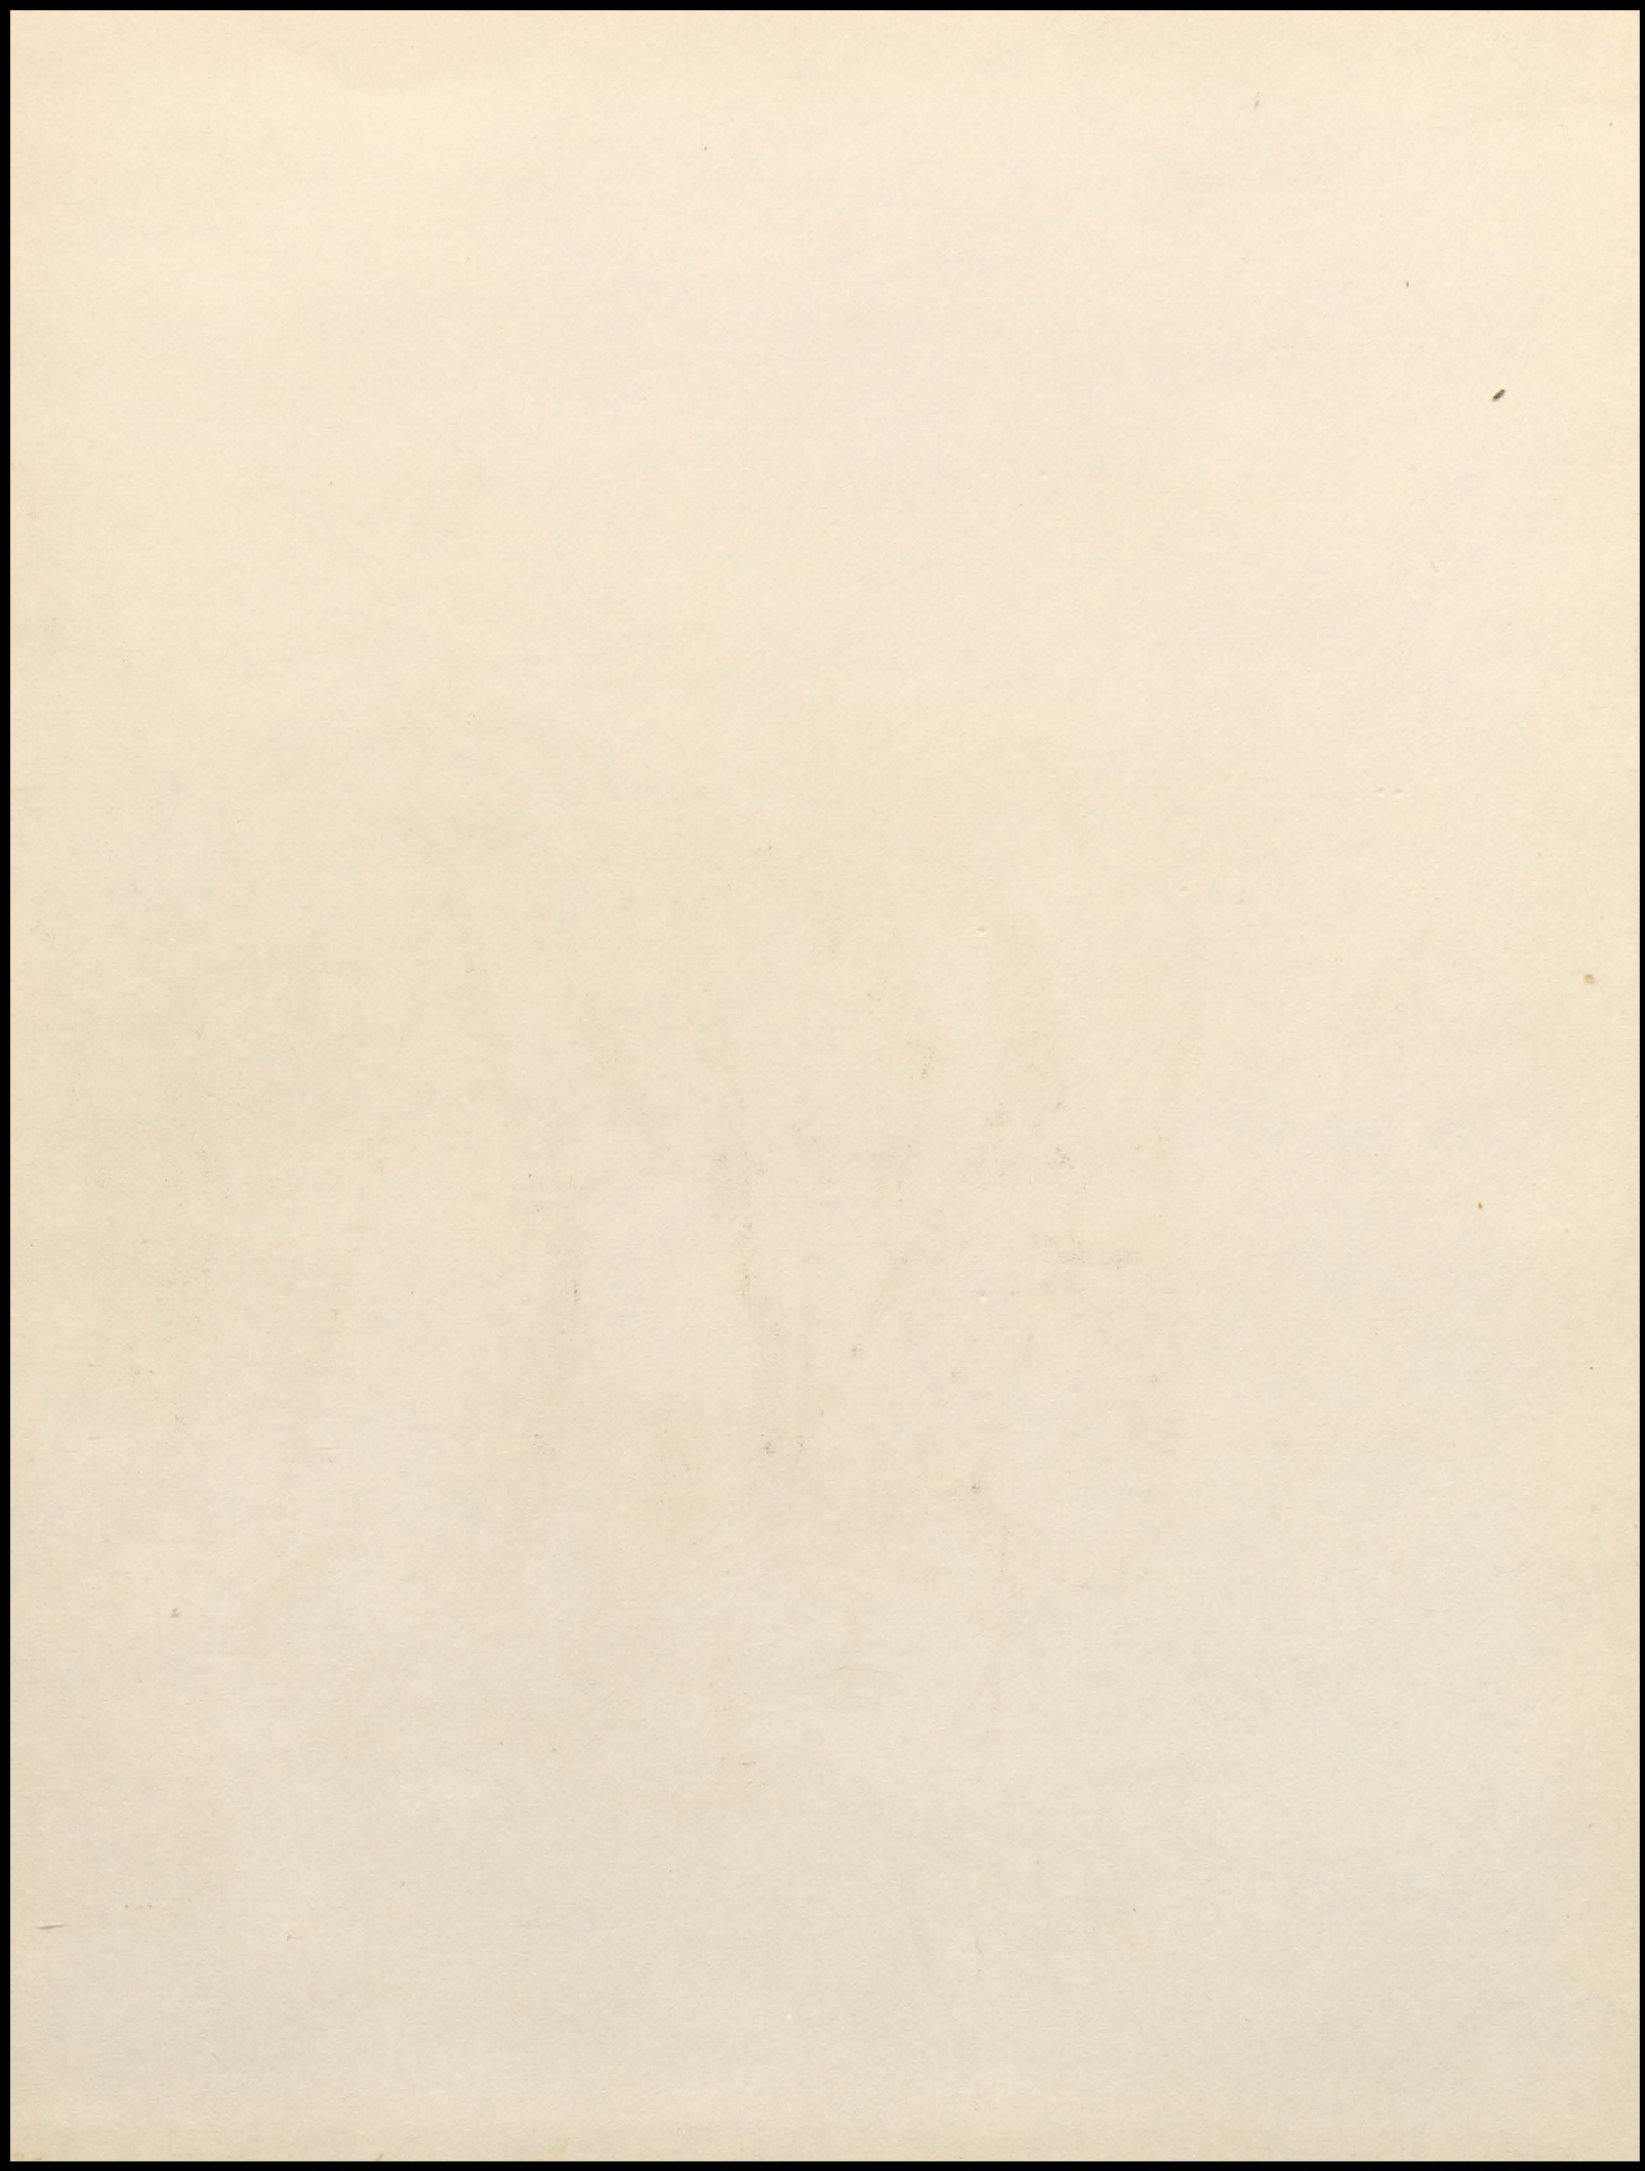

"Men have forgotten this truth," said the Tiger. "But you must not forget it. You become responsible, forever, for what you have tamed. You are responsible for your rose . . ."

"I am responsible for my rose," the little prince repeated, so that he would be sure to remember.
