2 Times Better

Twice as Good... Brian Penn and Jeremy Gookman think this year is twice as good as last year. After all, juniors rule, they say.

What do you think of the 2nd year at the high school?

"This year has been quite a change from last year. It seems as if everyone is settled in and ready to get back into the old high school swing of things. This year I have also realized how important my friends are."

- Julie Shiver

Home is where the heart is... Robert Will's heart is here, there, and everywhere.

Standin Around... J.J. Sanders, Jaime Welker, and Joe Williams all seem to have inquiries, so they take a break from all the action during recess. Hey guys, we just love those band-aids.

Not Me!... I promise I didn't say it! Billy Steege seems to get all of the blame, but he promises he's not the one.

THE 2nd TIME

It was no longer a new building to get accustomed to, it was a home. The different cliques had established their gathering spots at lunch and break, and people had found their "spots" to stand, chat, or be seen.

S. T. U. D. E. N.

GOOD of a THING

Student life and fun were two words that functioned as synonyms. Whether it was a football game, womanless wedding, dance, or a simple gathering at Stockton School yard, everything just seemed exciting. Accordingly, it didn't matter if you were in Lucky Dollar or just attended, the electricity of the performance energized all of us.

As we tried to fit all of the activities that were available into our already busy schedule, we sometimes found ourselves with the wonderful dilemma of "too much of a good thing."

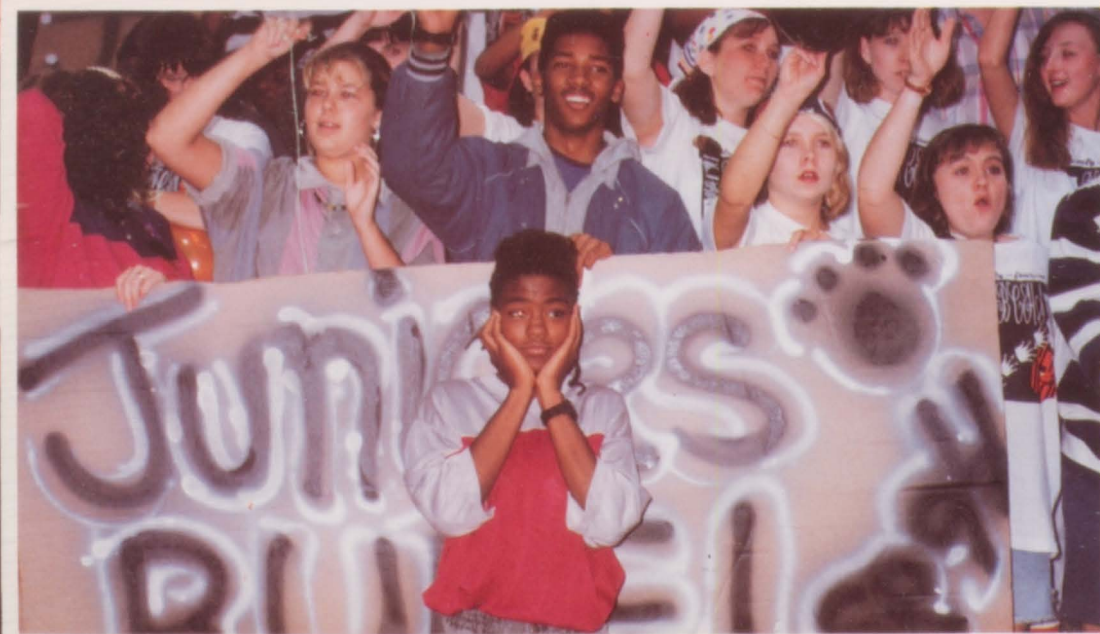

T...L.I.F.E.

What? We're back already? Heather Paslay and Jodi Sullivan work the sidelines of one of our football games. Hazardous duty comes with the job of photographer.

"All for One..." Scott Harville, Carter Scott, and James Hall share their lunch. Field trips such as this tour of Mobile Bay are highlights in a school year. I've heard of three on a match, but this is pushing it.

Juniors Rule, or so they say. Shameka Yelling seems to agree. Pep rallies are exciting ends to long humdrum weeks. All the frustration of class work and expectations of victories and weekend fun add to the long excitement.

Boots and Blues: Tara Smith, Julie Hall and Chasity Thompson "dress up" with their cut offs and new pride shirts.

What's it 2 Ya?

What fashions have you seen around campus this year?

"This year I have seen sandals, hippie stuff, paisley shirts, and Johnson T-shirts (bungee jumping and surfing)"

Eric Trawick

Fries and Ties: Cindy Van Arsdale's groovin with her grindage in the cafeteria during her lunch wave. If it's pizza, it must be Friday!

Bandana or Do-rag? Jimmy Palmer's stylin' with the do-rag while waiting for a pep rally in the gym. Sometimes we can get away with breaking a few dress code rules.

Ford Mustangs, cut-off jeans, boots, love beads, tie-dyeshirts, and camouflage were all familiar sights on campus. What we wore was greatly influenced by our favorite rock stars, movie and television stars, and our students own individual creativity.

By far, the greatest influence we faced was the renewed interest into the sixties and seventies trends. The hair, the shoes, the pants (even the bell bottom), and the wild colors and prints made their ways back into students closets.

One couldn't help but feel the sensation of de ja vu.

'91 and '66: Karen Harville's '91 mustang and James "Frog" Hall's mustang are being shown off by Jodie McDonald, Drew Edgar, Rick Gaines and James Hall. The old classics were in as much demand as the new models. Wouldn't a return to old gas prices be nice?

Camo's Still Here: Barrett Wiggins and Anthony Boyington strut their stuff in their camouflage at recess. This was one of the more popular dress up days during homecoming week.

Senior Spirit: Ann Sprinkle, Genise Parker, Cindy Presley, and Tiffany Hollingsworth show their class and tiger spirit during one of many exciting pep rallies. Class yelling competitions are intense and add to the excitement of football season.

Tigers on Parade: The mighty Tigers, Curtis Palmer, Carnell Atchison, Jamie Welker, Oliver Logan, Derrick Maxwell, Darryl America, and Joe Williams take to the streets. Walking in the homecoming parade is always fun.

Juggling Frenzy: Mr. Williams, the Ag teacher, and Larkin Rhodes test their ability in juggling a few oranges from the Ag orange sale.

Friday, Tiger Pride Day, we all tried to show our colors; the seniors chose camouflage, and juniors selected f cut-offs, long johns and duck boots.

Who is that?

G.I. Joes ... James Broughton, Travis Gray, and Anthony Gray "battle" the Homecoming week. Participation in activities is getting better.

"Wilmaaaaa!" ... David Clark has a Yabadabado of a week introducing his favorite famous person, Fred Flintstone.

Having a Seat... Drew Edgar finds that it's not so easy being a lady, while Hudson Shaddix gives him a shoulder to sit on. Drew is one of the more demonstrative students on campus. Students can expect him to do something just a bit different from the rest of us - so far he has not been a disappointment.

"What up?" Joy Jaye and Amy Baggett say, "What up with dress up?" The two girls work hard to make Homecoming week successful. Being a cheerleader means doing a lot more than just jumping around the football field on Friday nights. The responsibility of maintaining school spirit is a 24 hour job.

The Tree of Fashion... Vanessa Richerson, Mary Louise Wills, Corry Cox, Dillon Mitchell, Leigh Hayes, Meredith McCullough, Carmen Welker, and Robert Wills display "their" fashions. Stripes, silk, denim, tie-dye, western boots, moccasins, Birkenstocks, and bright colors are styles most commonly seen on campus.

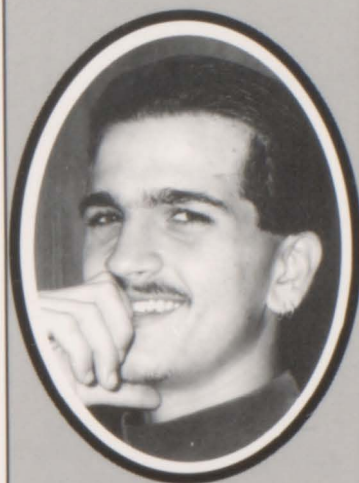

Jodi Sullivan, Alicia Stewart, and Elvin Byrd compare answers on some homework. They may be confused about schoolwork, but they are sure about their styles.

Social lives revolved around the world of fashion. Jeans of all colors and denim lent. Plaid, striped, were extremely hot bright and vibrant colors. Sporting events kept everyone busy all year long. Whether you were a player, manager, or a spectator, you were still part of the team. Football had everyone pumped up on Fridays in the fall. During winter, the gym was filled with anxious basketball fans. The spring arrived and so did baseball. The bleachers at the park seemed to be busy, even when the temperature dropped into the forties. But, the loyal fans were right there to support their team.

It didn't matter the sport; when the clocks ran out, we had the points. Winners were what we were!

Bustin' A Move... Oliver Logan shows his stuff by breaking loose from some defenders. Oliver's running ability helped him receive the Offensive Back of the Year Award.

Just a Little Trouble... Lisa Killcrease gets her ankle rapped before a game. Even though she is feeling pain, Lisa still gets out and does her stuff on the soccer field. She is typical of most of the athletes.

Don't mess with the Best Football

For the fourth year in a row the team earned the title of Area IV 6A Champions. They started the year with an upset by Atmore but came back with seven straight wins. These included Citronelle, the Robertsdale Bears, Davidson, Carroll of Ozark, and the mighty Lions of Foley. Wins over Daphne and Fairhope were also added. However, the Tigers fell to McGill on Homecoming night. True to form, they came back successfully with a big run over Satsuma. They ended their season with a loss in the playoffs to Enterprise. This exciting game went into a double overtime and ended with a score of 28-21.

Say What... Tony Judge stands in disbelief concentrating on that last play. It doesn't matter whether we agree with everything or not, what the officials say goes.

Friday Fantasies Football

During the first quarter of the school year, Simmons Field proved the place to be on Friday nights. A thousand fans came out to support their team. Excitement seemed to crackle in the cool fall air. Derrick Maxwell's awesome pass to Oliver Logan at the Citronell game was the spark which seemed to ignite the cheering from the students, faculty, parents, and even the players themselves. The roar of the crowd gave the Tigers' extra confidence. It was this combination of players, coaches, and fans which led to victory after victory. For the fourth year in a row, we were area champs. R.L. Watson's final year as head coach ended on a positive note. We were winners, and so was he.

"What? What? What?"

Yeah, J.V. Cheerleaders had the spirit and a lot of smiles and pride for the J.V. Football team and school. Being a J.V. Cheerleader may have looked easy, but looks were deceiving. They spent most of their summer practicing for camp located at Troy State. They had busy weeks during football season. Thursday nights they cheered the junior high team, and on Friday nights they sold programs at the Varsity games. Monday nights were spent cheering for the junior varsity team.

The J.V. Team gave us good hopes for football in the future. They worked hard to prove they were tough enough to be varsity. The J.V. consisted of many athletes who were left out of the spotlight.

Jump Around Varsity Cheerleaders

Hardwork, smiles, and tiger pride were the main things that made up a Cheerleader. From the pep rallies to the Friday night football games, they kept the faculty, students, and crowds cheering. Their peppy smiles and encouragement gave the tigers a boost of confidence with every yard they ran.

You could always catch the cheerleaders walking around in the parking lot on Fridays selling spirit ribbons and pins. They put on a show at recess and lead the students in the traditional "spirit yell" at the pep rallies.

It was mixed emotions for six of the girls as their senior year came to an end. Their excitement of graduating was mixed with sadness in leaving the squad.

Catch the Fever Varsity Basketball

The Varsity team had one of their best years ever. Students, teachers, and members of the community packed the gym to watch the Tigers strut their stuff. Under the leadership of Coach Kirby Weaver, the team made it to the state playoffs and became Area 3 champs.

The team had much talent and skill. Damion Nivens was the leading scorer and rebounder. Derrick Maxwell had the leading steals.

Overall the team scored sixty-one percent of their free throws, winning nineteen games and losing nine. This helped basketball regain its popularity. Winning was contagious.

Lady Tigers Varsity Basketball

The girls varsity basketball had a strong year. They ended their season with seventeen wins and seven losses; and although they were the smallest team in the state, they were one of the quickest.

The Lady Tigers played hard and worked hard all season, which showed in their standings. They finished second in the county, second in Area 3, and advanced two rounds in the state playoffs before losing. Coach Pridgeon won the 400th game of his career on February 9, 1993, by defeating Davidson 52-48. Coach Pridgeon stated "The entire team worked together, liked each other, and were completely unselfish."

J.V. Basketball

The J.V. Boys' had an excellent year with Robert Brown as top scorer with an average of 16.9 points a game. The team had an overall record of nine wins to ten losses and a county record of five wins to one loss. The team as a whole, scored 517 points for the year, and had an average of 52 points per game. Clinton Gandy played hard bringing in an average of 8.4 points a game with Adam English scoring an average of 6.2 points a game.

The girls' J.V. basketball team finished six to two on the season and took second place in the county standing.

Leading the team in scoring was Amanda Harville with 14.2 points per game, Angie Dean with 11.1 points per game and Mary Louise Wills with 7.5 points per game. The team also had solid performances from Billy Jo Davison, Meredith McCullough, Angel Martin, and Melissa Anderson.

Bump, Set, Spike It! Volleyball

The Varsity Volleyball team contributed a lot of pride to the school. In hope of victory, the Tigers gave all they had to each game. Many days were spent learning some tips that Mrs. Clemmons felt would be useful.

Hard work and patience existed throughout the J.V. volleyball team. Practicing day after day from 3:30 to 5:00 took a lot of time from each player. Living up to Mrs. Clemmons' expectations was not an easy task, but the Tigers accomplished the goals of victory. Although the Lady Tigers had a tough season, they worked hard to build a team and came together at the end of the season. The Lady Tigers made us proud. Teamwork and individual effort made the volleyball season a success.

Aiming High... Angel Martin concentrates on the perfect set so a teammate can make an awesome spike.

The Guys That Get The Goals Boys Soccer

The boy's soccer team started the season off with a win over Daphne. The team was made up of hard working, dedicated individuals willing to go that extra yard to score a winning point. Each game brought on more bangs and bruises, but it was well worth it when they heard their name associated with victory. The players made it through every game with the help of the cheering fans and their great sportsmanship.

The talent of each player led the team through a great season. The team wrapped up the season with three defeats over Murphy, Alabama School of Math and Science, and Shaw. They had three ties, six wins, and seven losses. It may not have been a winning season, but their attitudes were.

Pre-game Practicing... Jason Coletta takes a few minutes to correct any weaknesses he may have before the game. Practice makes perfect.

Girls' Soccer

The girls soccer team came back this season with an all-new attitude. Although they were still new kids on the block, they didn't let the older teams intimidate them and gave some teams a run for their money.

After the first goal of the season was made, their morale was boosted to the moon. The Lady Tigers started playing like a team and communicating with each other. Coach Warren was always there; so was Coach Bonderant. They believed in the team.

Ending the season with a 3-13 record is not anything to brag about, but the girls soccer team could not have been prouder. They had won two games at home, which had never been done, and one game away. By the end of the season, they were on a roll, winning their last two games and feeling great!

Takin' Time... Lisa Kilcrease sneaks up on the ball to prepare for a shot or goal. Lisa always takes time and kicks it right!

Racket Ruckus

Varsity Boys and Girls Tennis

The boy's tennis team continued their success. They had a record of nine and three, came in second in the county tournament, and fifth in the sectional tournament. Hudson Shaddix won number one singles in the county tournament.

This is the second year for Baldwin County High school to have a girls' tennis team. They have improved a great deal this year. They received many new players, along with the already experienced ones from last year. The team's record was not that outstanding, but the skill on the team was tremendous.

Tennis was one of those wonderfully odd sports which didn't draw big crowds. But, that didn't matter. As long as you improved as a player and beat your opponent, the win was enough to cause a quiet ruckus.

Killin' it... Scott Nelson slams a forehand back to his opponent to win the point. concentration is as important as any thing in tennis. It's a smart game.

Just Puttin' Around Golf

The girls' and boys' golf team did a great job. The boys' team had a dominating record of 20-8. Jay Spence, Clint Rountree, and Chris Hardy helped show the five new freshmen how exciting golf competition was. They worked hard and finished second in the county.

It was only the second season for the girls. However, the team that hit the links did well with a 5-6 season. With the four sophomores teaching new-comer Christie Taylor the rules of golf, the girls finished third in the county.

It was a good season, but all members will return next year which meant that next year will present more experience and claim more victories on the course. Golf didn't draw huge crowds, but it had a devoted following of players.

Drive it...Jay Spence swings the club. Every good golfer puts power behind the swing.

Strokin'...Mary Louise Wills practices her swing. Form is everything in golf and the slightest twist of the wrist can ruin a shot.

Girls' Team...Christie Taylor, Jodi Sullivan, Mary Louise Wills, and Felicia Stewart.

"I really enjoyed my first year of golf. I had fun playing the sport, but most of all I liked cutting up with my teammates, 'Charlie's Angels'." - Christie Taylor

Fore!... Chris Hardy makes the perfect swing, hoping for a hole-in one. A good tee shot is the dream of each golfer.

Puttin' around... Jodi Sullivan practices her stance and arm position. Getting that little ball in that little hole is not as easy as she makes it look.

Boys' Team... Chip Sellars, Coach Pridgeon, Brad Taylor, Matt Mitchell, Jay Spence, Michael Smith, and Clint Roundtree Chris Hardy.

Boyz in Baseball

Varsity Baseball

The "Boyz in Baseball" had a terrific season. They showed their stuff and fulfilled many expectations of the student body and the players themselves. The Tigers were Area Three Champions, County Champions, Top 16 in the State, and went to the second round of the playoffs in Montgomery. Seven seniors played in the East-West Allstar game in Brewton: Clay Stevens, Matt Achimon, Joel Kendrick, Brad Peacock, Marcus Byrd, Chuck Hicks and Steven James.

With a total of 18 wins to 12 losses, our "boyz" had an excellent season. Coach Wright took the boys all the way to Robert E. Lee! Hitting hard, throwing fast and catching the pop ups, the Tigers played ball!

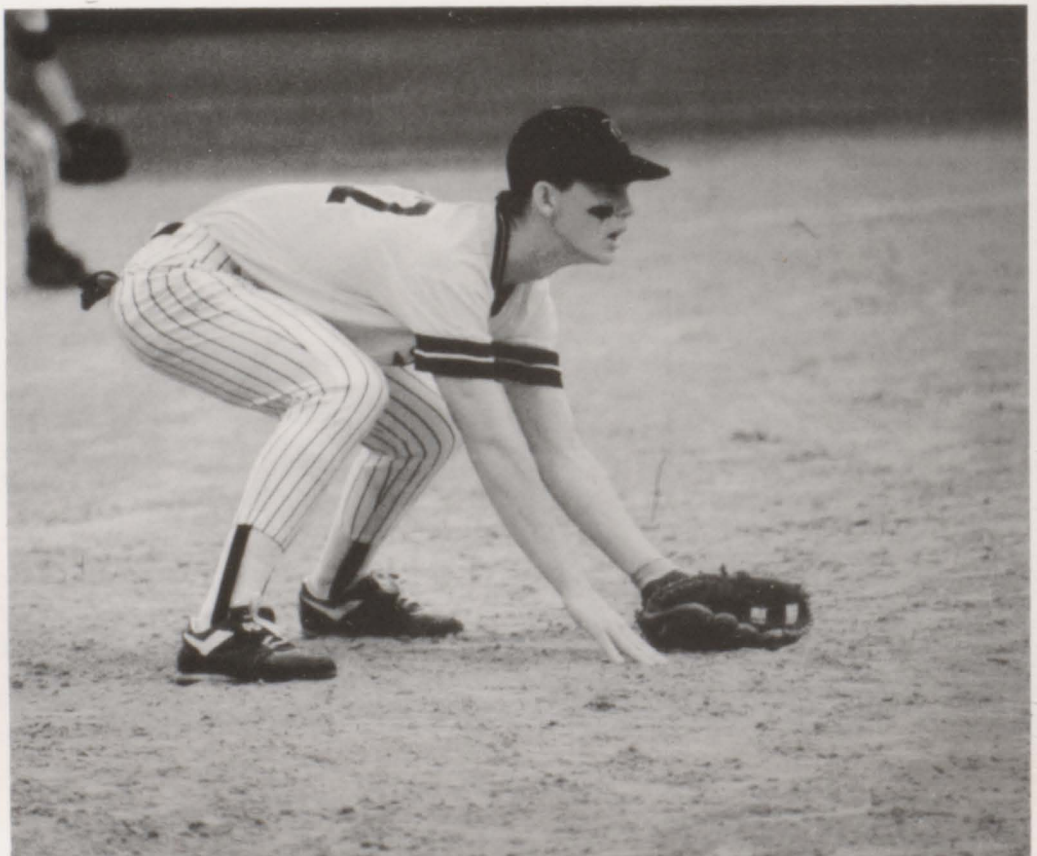

Frustration... Marcus Byrd and Jody Jaye show extreme frustration after losing a tough game. Losses were overcome as the team went on to have a great season and participate in state playoffs in Montgomery.

Running 'em Home

Junior Varsity Baseball & Softball

The junior varsity baseball and softball teams were two units consisting of numerous, competitive individuals. Both teams were seen each afternoon on the field perfecting their winning hits, runs, and catches.

The fans filled the gap between the players and victory with their endless cheers. At every game there were always voices echoing from the stands to boost the teams' morale. All of this effort paid off when our players came off the field with the satisfaction of performing their best covering their faces.

Of course, their uniforms reflected the work and dirt that it took to run in hits!

Sacrificing Is Softball

The girls varsity softball season started out with a BANG this year. However, these victories would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of each and every player. Playing the game often required giving up many weekends and some even jeopardized their prom plans, all in the name of teamwork. Under the leadership of Coach Jay Koziol, the team stayed together and worked out their differences and became the united team that won games and championships. The teamwork, sacrifices, and dedication allowed the Lady tigers to end the season victorious.

Tracking It Down

Boys and Girls

The girls and guys of track had a terrific year. "Hustle, hustle, hustle" were the only words familiar to these guys and gals. Afternoons, weekends, all free time was spent striving to be the best, "running for the gold." Every afternoon was spent at Faulkner with the exceptions of rainy days. These were spent at the field house "pumping it up." Many girls qualified for state playoffs and the whole girls' team won the county championship for the first time. Way to go girls! The guys did equally well when strutting their stuff. The track teams showed their competitors who was boss - T-I-G-E-R-S!

Discus Diggers... Jamie Welker, Stan Andrews, Laneta Armstead are preparing for Track and Field. Practice and perfect stance combined with strength bring out the top notch.

O.G.A.N.I.

Getting

Gether

Organizations were a big part of a students' school life. They were easy ways to become more active in school and closer to many different types of students. Clubs also helped by providing students with leadership qualities that would be helpful for the future. Many out of school functions allowed students to become acquainted with people from other schools. These functions included things such as conventions, parties, and dances.

There were many different clubs to get involved in if you wanted to become active. No Matter if your interest dealt in cars, food, or foreign languages, you could almost always find a group who thought about things the way you did.

Z.A.T.I.O.N.S

Total Concentration... Nick Newell tries his best to psych Jason Price out, Chess is a mental game, you know. The club has really become quite active.

Oh No...What is the answer? You can tell by the look on her face that Leigh Hayes is under some kind of pressure. Scholars' Bowl practice is almost as intense as the matches themselves.

Delightful Eatin... Leigh Kennedy and Katy Harper sample treats in F.H.A. Future Homemakers of America not only cooks for fundraisers, but every once in a while they also cook for themselves.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society was one of the busiest organizations on campus. The carnation sale at Christ mas turned out to be a huge success, as did the annual Valentine candygram sale. For the first time a womanless wedding was held, and the program raised $900. The "affair" kept the student body laughing for days.

The real purpose of NHS was not only candygrams, carnations, and programs, but it recognized leaders. N. H. S. was established to encourage academic achievement and help to develop character, leadership, service, and scholarship.

The Bay Minette charter became the only charter in the state to host the convention for the third time. The theme for this special event in February at Gulf Shores was "Believe to Achieve." This was easily their theme all through the year!

"After working as a sponsor with NHS for quite a few years, it is still a challenging and sometimes, a difficult position to fill. NHS is one of the groups here at BCHS that makes countless contributions to the school and community, and I appreciate the privilege to be a part of an organization that strives to make a difference."

- Mrs. Scott

"It was an honor to be elected to serve as President this year.

There have been frustrations at times, but the excellent experience I have gained as a leader outweighs the negative." - Melanie Cain

1993-1994 NHS Inductees... Jennifer Dickman, Delores Vinson, Melissa Powell, Cathy Hicks, Stalene Call, Janet Aplin, Nicole Byrne, April Sanks, Jessica Nelson, Charolette Stallworth, Deanna Drew, Erika Chancery, Lalita Love, Dawn Roley, Josh McCullough, Shannon Martin, Sharon Ealum, Heather Bengston, Leigh Ann Clark, Jennifer Hawkins, Leigh Hayes, Julie Howell, Dawna Davis, Elijah Hollinghead, Bobby Thomaston, Chad Vinson, Joey Franco, April Prewett, Lyle Partin, Dillon Mitchell, Eric Trawick, Jeff Coats, Chris Hardy, David Clemmons, Paul Lamb, Greg Randall, Trey Dorman, John Davis, Kevin Pimperl, Scott Nelson, Gabriel Boatwright, Roy McLeod, Wayne Chestang, and Sam King.

Lending a hand... Sky Allstadt helps Becky Bryars straighten her collar before the ceremony so she'll look her best. Inductions are held for all 11th and 12th grade students in an afternoon assembly.

Passing it along... Jennifer Dickman, John Davis, Dawna Davis, and David Clemmons pass the flame. This candlelighting ceremony is a tradition at NHS inductions.

Eatin' it up... Vanetta Call enjoys the scenery at Fort Morgan. The lunch was given to NHS members by the Kiwanis Club. Community support helped make the convention a success.

Sudden Attack... Cathy Hicks and April Prewett thought NHS convention was a blast until a sudden attack of the stomach virus hit them. Through all the trouble of the weekend, the girls say it was definitely a change from the average Bay Minette weekend life.

Key Club

The theme for Key Club International was child abuse. The motto was "Uncover the dark - ness, Discover a Ray of Hope." In conjunction with that, we helped Care House of Baldwin County by making a cash donation of $1,000 and making the club available to them in anyway . In addition and in line with the International Theme, members worked with the after school program at the Bay Minette Elementary School. Members were available to help with homework, organize play, read stories to the children, and just listen to what the children had to say. As usual, Kid's Day, road blocks, pancake day, stadium clean ups, and many other civic duties kept the club busy. We were one of the major links between the school and the community.

What did you not get to do this year that you did last year? "We had a lot less participation in meetings and projects this year."

- Jimmy Wurst

Do you enjoy being sponsor of Key Club? "Being Key Club Sponsor has been an exciting challenge. It has given me the opportunity to work with many outstanding individuals and to watch them grow through service to their family, school, and community." - Mrs. Still Dance Duty...Laura Hall serves Jessica Ammons a drink at one of the many Key Club dances. Working the concessions and taking up tickets are just two of the responsibilities of active Key Clubbers.

Money, Money, Money... Mrs. Still willingly takes up Chris Cabiness's money at a Key Club dance. These are popular activities for after-the-football-games.

Key Club Caterers...Key Club gives an appreciation banquet for all of the teachers. Some members who helped include Heather Paslay, Julie Shiver, Melanie Cain, Chuck Cain, Joy Jaye, Amy Baggett, Chad Carlisle, and Jimmy Wurst

Key Club #1...Jimmy Wurst displays his Key Club Spirit at the Homecoming Pep Rally. Being president of the club does not keep him from being an active member of the senior class.

Fruit Frenzy...Mrs. Brogden and Chuck Cain serve bowls of fruit at the breakfast for the teachers. Getting up extra early for special projects is common. Sleep can always be made up later.

Interact

The purpose of the Interact Club was to provide opportunity for young people to service and international understanding. Interact accomplished many services for Bay Minette, during Christmas at the North Baldwin Hospital and Oakwood Nursing Home. They participated in the Four Way Test Project and reorganized the club to fit school and international standards.

The club differed from past years because it saw more of an involvement from Rotarians. President Mrs. Arlene Pepper worked to improve the clubs image by conforming to the Standard Interact Club Constitution and Standard Interact Club By-Laws. The combined efforts by both Interact and Rotary were the ingredients for a successful year.

How has being Interact Sweetheart broadened your horizons?

"Being Interact sweetheart has been a great honor for me. It has helped me become a more responsible, dependable person, and I have learned more patience and how to deal with problems right away. Interact was a great influence on me."

- Hope Sellers

What does Interact mean to you?

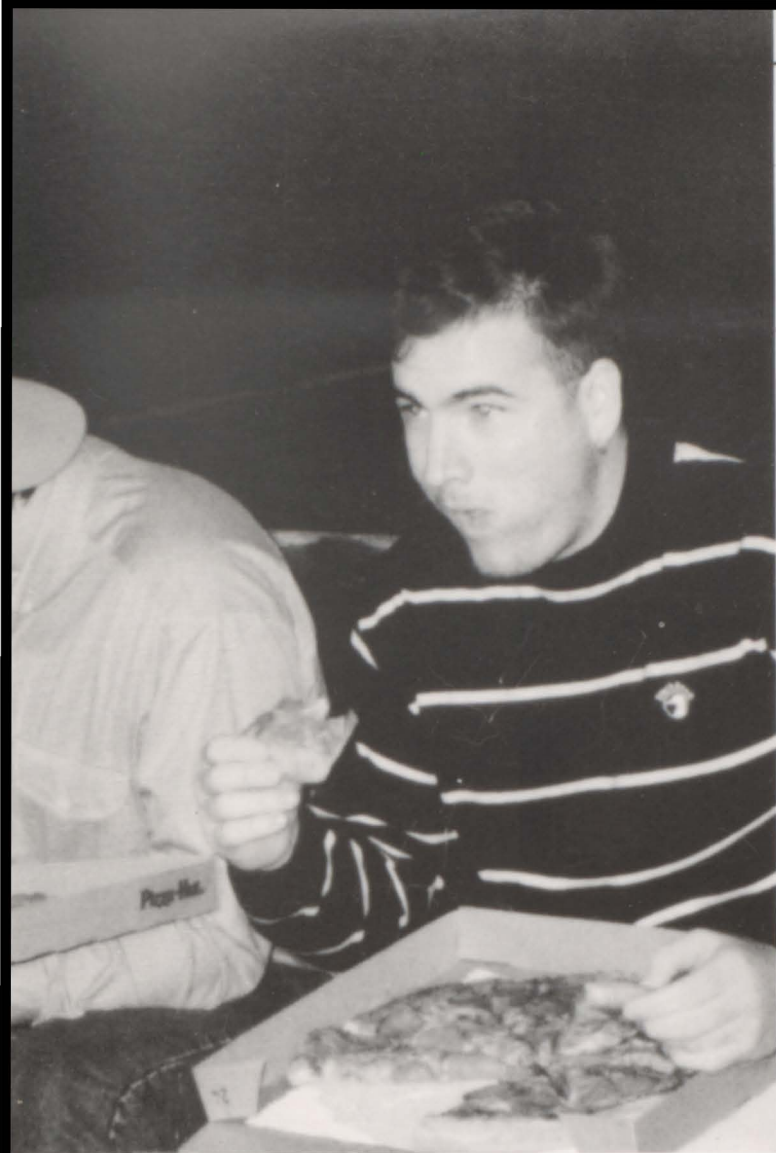

"Interact, to me, is a club that has enabled me to show leadership that I know will one day be valuable. I can proudly say I have enjoyed being a part of Interact at Baldwin County High, especially being president my senior year."

- Brad Peacock

1992-93 Interact Members: Mandy Nall, Ann Sprinkle, Hope Sellers, Tonya Presley, Crystal Johnson, Michelle Kimmons, Jennifer Flowers, Stacy Johnson, Kaye Barlow, Julie Patterson, Genise Parker, Cindy Presley, Mr. Ayers, Jamie Parker, Stephen James, Geoff Parker, Brad Peacock, Chad Davison, Brooks Curry, Richie Byrd, Jamie Byrd, Jamie Welker, Derrick Maxwell, Joe Williams, and Derryl America.

Piggin Out... Barrett Wiggins, Stephen James, and Jamie Parker race to see who can eat the most pizza. Interact is always an active participant in the annual Pep-Fest.

Yea Interact! Crystal Johnson, Hope Sellers, Jamie Hileman, and Stephen James yell at a pep-rally in the battle of the clubs. Unfortunately, Interact did not win the spirit yell; this award went to Deca.

Glad to be there... Excited about being a part of Interact, Jeremy Richerson and Chad Davison participate in one of the Rotary Sing-alongs! Wednesday Rotary meetings are always enjoyable.

Hey Everybody... Driven by Libby Nall, Mandy Nall and Michelle Kimmons wave to everyone during the homecoming parade while riding on the Interact car.

Student Council

Student Council was one of the busiest organizations on campus. They had weekly meetings on Mondays at 6:00 P.M. to discuss their next project. Leigh Hayes presented the morning announcements every morning over the TV screens in each room. Student Council was in charge of the homecoming dance and parade, sponsored "supper with Santa," where kids could eat dinner and get their pictures made with Santa Claus. Each Saturday a few dedicated individuals would read to children at the public library. They also organized a Matchmaker International, in which students filled out a data match survey and found out with whom they were most compatible. The purpose of Student Council was for students to participate in school affairs-mission accomplished!

What is the purpose of SGA? "... to promote effective student participation in school affairs, to cooperate with administration and faculty, to bring a better understanding between faculty and students, and to promote school spirits and pride with emphasis on individual responsibilities for the reputation of our school."

- Mrs. Brogden

"Each year is different, mainly because of the difference of the leadership styles of our officers. We have an organization that is now competitive at state level- what a rush to hear Baldwin County High School called out as the winner of a state award!" -Mrs. Robinson Bulletin Board Buddies... Leigh Hayes and Elizabeth Thompson hang construction paper for SGA, volunteers were always needed.

"Sigma Delta Phi's main goal is to develop a strong sense of unity among its diverse individuals. Our diversity provides the opportunity to attain a greater sense of strength, friendship, and understanding in all our personal and civic endeavors. Since members are not selected by popularity or social means, the bonds of friendship we make result in unforeseen eye-opening experiences.

The unity of a group of individuals working for common goals instills a greater appreciation of self, community, and the beauty manifest within all individuals involved." Ms. Holmes

"Being a Sigma Delta Phi big brother has taught me a lot. It's taught me to be more mature and responsible. I've grown a lot."

-Joe Williams

Sigma Delta Phi members worked to serve the community and our school by assisting at pre-registration, hosting the ring ceremony, and even giving guided tours to alumni.

They won first place in the homecoming float contest, displayed club spirit week, and showed our appreciation for the faculty by placing the annual Christmas tree in the lounge and providing goodies and Christmas treats. We assisted the Oakwood Nursing Home with Fall Festival and returned with fruit baskets, and on Christmas with a peppermint tree. We also answered Santa's letters for grades K-3. We held an Easter Basket contest to aid underprivileged children. We have two functions to honor our members: the annual academics/awards tea and the Father-Daughter Dinner at the beach.

Sigma Delta Phi wanted to touch the lives of others and gain experiences to enable us to become better individuals. Ms. Holmes FHA participated in the Baldwin County Fair exhibit and won first place for Safety and Sanitation.

FHA adopted three classes at Bay Minette and Pine Grove Elementaries, and Bay Minette Middle School. Each holiday, FHA made treats for the classes to enjoy while they worked on their holiday projects. They made lap quilts for the residents at Oakwood Nursing Home. Pennies for Penelope House was a running project that collected over two hundred and fifty dollars. It pays to "get involved," was how Mrs. Carpenter put it.

Standouts... (back row) Melanie Swayne, Laurie Leggett, (front row) Kenya Gray and Ellis Hussar proudly accepted the blue ribbon and seventy-five dollars for their winning poster.

Cookies Galore... Matthew Mitchell, Lucas Hall, Ashley Gallaway, Farah McGee, and Kendall Bearden show off the bags made for three of the classes adopted. Happy Halloween to all.

The cast of twenty-five seniors made an innovative grand entrance and tirelessly performed all of the challenging rolls that "dared to be" throughout the debate for the transitions in O.C. 93'. Each member played his part well in traditional and in more contemporary trends. The rolls were many- a friend, a motivator, a teacher, a critic- the mask were worn by all through the passing of the year. As O.C. 93' prepared for their exit into the world's stage, the players experiences- for all it could be in O.C. 93'- will remain forever in their hearts.

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America was the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. The competition in Atmore was a major accomplishment. The small engine team placed first in the district contest and the Forestry team placed fourth. The Agribusiness class planned building picnic tables for O.C. Waters park. FFA did not get to build the greenhouse they had planned due to time in finances; however it will be one of their major goals next year.

Chess

The B.C.H.S. Chess Club continued to grow and have success in competition. Our

"A" Team finished in 3rd place in the Mobile/ Baldwin County Chess League, while our "B" Team also finished 3rd in the 16 school league. Our newly formed "C" Team went undefeated and claimed 1st place. On May 7, 1993, our "A" and "B" Teams finished 1st in the Baldwin County championships held at B.C.H.S. The Chess Club was sponsored by Mr. Jim Luckey.

Scholars' Bowl

The Junior Varsity and Varsity Scholars' Bowl team had another winning season. The Varsity team won first place for the eleventh out of twelve years in a row. However, without the patience and coaching abilities of Mrs. Betty Dean and Mrs. Betty Clemmons the teams could not have been as successful. Jeff Coats won most valuable player for the third year and Dan Anderson placed in the top six. Both teams truly lived up to the great tradition of Baldwin County High School.

French Club

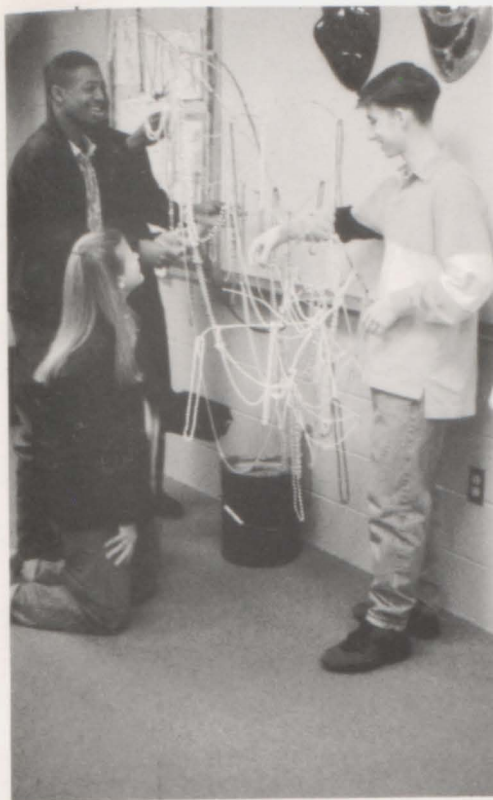

The French Club socialized on occasion, participated in school activities such as homecoming, and raised money to buy necessary supplies needed for Mrs. Land's classroom. As usual, the club accomplished most of what they had set out to do. They made their annual Christmas stockings and made Valentines for the residents of Oakwood Nursing Home. The year ended on a "festive" note with the final French picnic. Even though the bread came already sliced, instead of loaves, it was fun for all. Bonjour Y'all!

Annual Staff

The annual staff worked over-time to publish the yearbook. Deadlines with the many lay-outs made days long and hard. The staffers gave the plans to Erika Chancery and Deanna Drew who typed the information into the computer. Heather Paslay and Jeff Coats were responsible for most of the photos. Jodi McDonald handled the business. The staff work was not as easy as it looked, however, it was fun and exciting.

Six Period: Misty Morries, Vanessa Richerson, Mrs. Hudson, Jodi McDonald, Natalie Dees, and Leigh Hayes.

Deadlines... April Prewett gets frantic in the rush of deadlines.

What do you find exciting about annual staff? "I love working with the people on annual staff, and especially Mrs. Hudson. No matter how bad of a day I'm having, when I go into annual staff, all my problems vanish."

Cathy Hicks, Editor

Why are you on the annual staff? "I enjoy working with people. Working with my friends makes it even more fun. I also feel that the annual staff is a learning experience and has many skills that will enhance my future goals."

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club promoted interest in Spanish culture and language. They held a raffle before Thanksgiving as a fundraiser. The future goals included more meetings and a renewal interest in the club.

What is the purpose of Spanish Club? "The purpose is to promote interesting Spanish culture and language."

Mrs. Stovall, sponsor

Why is this year different from others?

"The change in sponsors and recognizing our member's birthdays. -Stalene Call

Council of the Tolkien

The Council of the Tolkien promoted literature and the visual arts.

They volunteered services in the two-day Fort Mims Massacre Reenactment. The Council hoped to attain their goal to raise more money for the library.

What is the purpose of your organization?

"Council of the Tolkien hopes to promote literature and visual arts." Kandice Carter, Pres.

What does V-Pres of the Council of Tolkien mean to you? "It means hard work and teaching the importance of chivalry in the world today." -David Clemmons

Putting

Everyone had his own personal reasons for taking vocational school. Some went over there to learn a trade and others just needed the credits to graduate. Most students were shocked when they found out it was not only fun, but was also a great learning experience. They learned everything from how to take care of children to how to fix a car. It didn't matter what the reason was because when you finally left the BCCT, you had definitely learned something new.

Hard at work... Takashia Taylor and Paula Hale make posters in DECA for discounts on school supplies. Not only do you learn to work in a business, but you also learn how the business works.

NBCT Faculty

A wonderful staff and administration made the life of the students at the vocational center a lot easier. The faculty spent hours a day helping their students, and were always ready to lend a helping hand. They were committed to giving their students the education needed to prepare for their careers. Mr. Shedrick Hardy, pictured to the right, made life on campus special. He was warm and personable with all the students. It was definitely the dedication of the faculty and staff that made the vocational school run smoothly.

Marketing

Marketing Education classes prepared students for real life. The students got in touch with real businesses and the people running our community. Marketing offered preparation for huge varieties of occupations such as restaurant marketing, food marketing, fashion merchandising, general merchandising, advertising and display services, and finance and credit services.

Marketing students were also members of DECA - Distributive Education Club of America. DECA was a national youth organization for students interested in a marketing career. They competed in school and community activities and participated in special projects. Marketing Education and DECA were helping students make the world a better place.

Business Education

Business Education was a class designed to prepare for a career in the business world. Students learned techniques in all areas of business from computer technology to basic communication skills. Many of the students in this department participated in the co-op program during which they spent part of each day working in business and industry in the Baldwin County area.

The highlight of this year's activities was the hosting of the District III meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America, which was held on Saturday, March 6, 1993, at Faulkner State. This meeting was attended by some 500 business students from the Southern part of Alabama. Students competed in such events as talent, keyboarding, and shorthand. It was a challenge and hard work, but it was a project worth the effort.

Welding

Students in the Welding Department learned how to weld and the importance of hard work. All students were members of VICA and had a chance to participate in many club activities. The students competed on local and district levels and also in the VICA Skill Olympics. We have had many winners in the competitions and some students received scholarships. Welding was not all work, the students enjoyed club parties and outings. This was more than just a class, it gave one a key to the future and allowed students to make new friends.

Break Buddies... Stephen Whidbee and Joe Perkins take a break. Welding is a hard job, and they need a break every now and then.

Learning! Wasn't that why we were in school? We came to learn, and that was what we did. However, it was made fun by adding our own little tastes of life to each particular class. The teachers were there to teach, and that was what they did. Subjects were made interesting because of individual styles. But, whatever the method, whatever the material, we had class, no doubt about it. Some nights, games lasted until ten, but we knew that essay had to be written. It didn't matter how well we did in sports as long as we succeeded academically. Whatever might be said, we put the books first and the games ran a close second.

Total Concentration... Leoudris McGrue is captured by his subject. Concentration is the key to art. And, art is what we had. Mrs. Harris found the artist in most of her students and brought him to the surface.

Just Relaxing... Daniel Arnold takes time from class and relaxes in the library. Many times the library was used as a place to just get away from the hectic student life.

Uh, Gross... Jack Stanford and Donna McLeod find out that human anatomy is not just tests. There are often times when you have to do things that aren't so fun, such as dissecting an eyeball. It's difficult to cut on something that's looking back up at you.

Apples Anatomy

Computer science, life science, and physical science were classes most of us had to take at one time or another. From books to bodies, our students dissected computers, words, and organs to improve their skills. Students found out how much fun learning could be when they learned it hands-on.

No doubt about it though, the computer lab was the brain center. From it came what seemed like everything. It was Mrs. Pridgeon, as well as the machines, that made this school work.

The labs in physical science, dissection in life science, and programming in computer science gave us the opportunity to put to work what we had learned in the books.

Gross Anatomy...Chris Branum concentrates on dissecting a cow's eye. Ohhh, what fun!

Boundaries Battles Books

History, geography, and government and economics were an important part of the student's studies. They were required subjects, but the students got into the subjects by doing certain projects. In history class, they had to do reports on famous leaders. In geography, they had to choose a country to do a report on and in government and economics, students had to do a current event once a week. Students learned many new things in these classes that will help them in the future.

Math? No problem! The math department was an active section of the school. Whether you were a freshman or a senior on his way out, the classes were there for us to take. Sometimes it was simple addition and subtraction, and at others it was the most sophisticated computations. But whatever the situation, we figured it out!

Cooking Cars Correction tape

Typing, home economics, and drivers' education were considered the fun classes because of the hands-on experiences. In typing each day the students had drill sheets. These were for a grade, of course, but they also allowed the students to perfect speed and accuracy. Drivers' education was fun for the students, but often a nightmare for Mr. Parnell, Coach Myrick, and Coach Wright. The students did the bookwork for the first six weeks and learned the rules of the road. The next two six weeks they drove the simulators and real cars. The home economics classes filled the halls with wonderful aromas. They cooked desserts, snacks, and complete meals. In the midst of all these projects, they learned the basic fundamentals of cooking, sewing, and cleaning.

Twin Types... Stanley Johnson and Harley Jordan struggle through their daily drill sheets. They are trying not to look at the keys or each other.

Different Dialogues

If you were taking English, French, or Spanish, the chances were that you were in for a culture shock. In English, basic skills that were needed in every day life were provided, as well as creative writing skills. English teachers tried to make class as interesting and as fun as possible. In French and Spanish you not only learned a new language, you also learned about a different culture.

Sometimes what we did in class might have seemed strange. After all what did food have to do with French, English, or Spanish? Well, it was all a part of the cultural experience - different strokes for different folks.

Pinata Perfect...Tracey Boatwright shows off a pinata made in Spanish class. Spanish students had a difficult time learning a foreign language as well as their own.

Spotlight on You

"When I received recognition for my academic achievements, my dedication, and study habits seem worthwhile, in other words the midnight oil had paid off." - Amanda Cabanis, 10

At Elite Night, students received awards for English, French, and Spanish. English winners were as follows: Byron Ammons, Melissa Baggett, Taquessee Barnes, Amanda Cabanis, Allison Freeman, Will Rieben, Charlette Stallworth, Jennifer Tuberville, and Delores Vinson. French winners were as follows: Heather Bengtson, Deanna Drew, Vanetta Call, Julie Shiver, and Liberty Willard. Spanish winners were Dawna Davis and Janet Aplin.

Toga anyone? ... Melanie Cain, Jeff Coats, and Jessica Ammons dress up as Shakespearian characters. 12 AP English was a lot of hardwork, but it had its fun times, too.

Mystic Masquerade...Billy Long, Clint Barlow, and Johnny Smith dress up for an English presentation. There is more to English than just written work.

Serious Study...Norman Boyington tries to cram in a few more minutes of study time before his test. Students studied whenever and wherever they could so they could make the grade.

Je faim? ... Julie Smith, Melissa Brock, and Bobby Thomaston eat a King Cake to Mardi Gras. French wasn't just learning a new language, it was learning a new culture.

Forte Fortissimo

The chorus was an active group on campus. In the fall and the spring, they sold brown bag lunches. The students put the lunches in bags and distributed them at lunch.

They put on a patriotic assembly in the fall also. They had a Christmas concert; and as usual, the stage as well as the sounds reflected the mood of the season.

Whenever there were banquets, special assemblies, or ceremonies such as the ring ceremony, the chorus was always expected to entertain. Their performances were always a highlight to any occasion.

They also had some fun. They went to Nashville and Atlanta for competitions. While there they visited Opryland and Six Flags. They did well in the competitions and at having fun.

Country Boy: At Elite Night, Bobby Hiatt entertains the audience by singing, "The River," by Garth Brooks.

Spotlight on You

"Chorus has been the basis of my future in college and has been an important part of this, my senior, year."

Dale McKinley: Chorus
Heather Hoffman: Choralettes
Grey Griffin: Tri-Tones
Herman Gandy: Tiger Tones
Dawna Davis: Tiger Tones

Final Instructions: Mrs. Tucker goes over the plans for the concert with Natalie Hicks, Grey Griffith, and Farah McGee.

Spotlight: Jessica Wessler sings her solo. It is an honor to be selected out of the entire group to sing alone.

The Blues Brothers: Jeff Hannah and Jim Hamilton steal the show at the Christmas Concert. Chad and Jere add background.

Watching and Waiting: Angie Sprinkle, Dawana Davis, and Coral Daniels prop and rest while standing in one of the long lines at Six Flags.

All Together As one voice

The choral department consisted of the Concert Ensemble, Choralettes, Tri-tones, and Tiger Tones. All four groups competed in district competition and received excellent ratings. The two honor ensembles, Tri-tones, and Tiger Tones, competed in the national competition at the Peach Blossom Festival and came in second place in both divisions. The choral department and Mrs. Tucker were especially proud of Dawna Davis, Natalie Hicks, and Coral Daniels for competing in all-state competition.

The sounds of music were heard in many assemblies and special programs. The many voices became one.

Concert Ensemble: Rachael Mims, Cheryl Snowden, Walter Glass, Mepty Welch, Jenny Jerkins, Scotty White, Dale McKinley, Shay Cain, Veronica Ulmer, Byron Ammons

Tiger Tones: Kirsten Kolb, Angie Sprinke, Dawna Davis, Dee Dee Vinson, Natalie Hicks, Julie Smith, Liberty Willard, Dawn Roley, Chad Vinson, Jim Hamilton, Daniel Eubanks, Jeff Hannah, Herman Gandy, Jere Bundy

Big and Sound

As half time arrived, the crowd became excited when the B.C.H.S. marching band took its place on the football field. The orange and black uniforms strolled across the field as they provided the music from their many instruments.

When the drum major yelled, "Mark time," the entire band moved into position. Whatever the selection, the crowd enjoyed the songs and entertainment every Friday night. The Tigerettes glittered and the Flag Corp twirled their flags and added the needed color to the lively sounds of the night.

Songs such as "Tequilla," "Everything I do," and "Doctor Beat" blasted through the air.

Mark time...Chad Stewart conducts the band at one of the many half-time shows. Chad enjoyed being the drum major especially for songs like "Tiger Rag."

Double the Sound: Chris Hedge and Shawn Williams watch for the drum major to give them the cue to play their instruments.

Keep the Beat: Les Hall supports the Tigers with his talent at one of the many football games. Half-time is an exciting part of Friday nights.

Flute Salute... Marisa Roberts stands firm as she plays her flute at the pep rally. The band is an important aspect of pep rallies because they provide the music as well as spirit.

Blow that Horn: Demetrius Williams and Roy McLeod perform at a band concert at Faulkner during Christmas. The band put on many concerts for the public and the school.

Counting Concert Competition

Judging from the almost flawless halftime, the band made performing look easy. However, it involved many long hours of practice and dedication to get the job done. The band went to Milton, Florida, and Foley for competitions and all the hard work paid off with superior ratings.

They also played at pep rallies, parades, and other civic functions. The band could be counted on to entertain whenever asked.

Varsity: Julia Allen, Daniel Arnold, Dwight Boykin, Amands Burger, Tammy Burger, katachia Dale, Tameka Dale, James Hamilton, Amanda Harbison, Monica Helms, Asia Jerkins, Krystal Johnson, Alesia Joseph, Melanie Kendrick, Dave Leggett, Donna McLeod, Roy McLeod, kevin Pimperl, Ross Presley, Cynthia Rowland, Clander Sanders, Amanda Tanner, Dainte Thompson, Wayne Turner, Caleb Vines, Natasha Weekly, Bill Daniels, Eric Jowers, James Minchew, Chris Branum, John Davis, Jeremtra Gains, Chris May, Brian Peacock, Wesley Phillips, Ross Presley, Jason Selph, Chad Stewart, Bobby Thomaston, William Shawn, Rebecca Ball, Leanna Bell, starla Blackburn, Leslie Cheatham, Leigh Ann Clark, Vevetia Gaines, Tamera Jones, Barclam Knight, Emily Lindsey, natalie Lusk, Nikki Lusk, Antasiao McDole, Macy Nelson, Erin Tillery.

Beat the drum: Wesley Phillips and Daniel Arnold perform at a football game. The band was a Friday night event for us to enjoy.

Tiger Eyes are Watching: Mya Heaton, Redina Paul, Jason Fuller, and Chris Hedge wait to perform. We watch them wait.

Got the beat? Brian Peacock and Bobby Thomaston have the rhythm needed to keep the band on beat.

Fantastic Flutes: Donna McLoed, April Robinson, and Amanda Burger make sure they hit each note perfectly.

Dancing Darlings

The Auxillary consisted of the Tigerettes and the Flag Corp. Under the direction of Ms. Mary Kelley and Mrs. Alicia Grantham, the auxillary became something that everyone loved to watch. The Tigerettes and Color Gaurd received many superior ratings at competitions. Angela Williams was chosen by the Universal Dance Association to go to Paris to march in a New Year's Day Parade. The Auxillary was an important part of the band. It gave the sparkle and spice needed to season the music.

Color Guard...Carrie Chandler, Starla Blackburn, Nikki Lusk, Dana Boyington, Barbara Knight, Tameka Mims, Felicia McGrue, Renee Gains, Katherine Beasley, Emily Lindsey, Tamara Jones, Danielle Watson, and Leslie Cheatham.

Waiting and Watching...Natalie Lusk, Jessica Salter, and Mandy Parker wait their turn to perform at a pep rally. There is a lot of waiting involved in being a Tigerette.

Attention Macy...Macy Nelson snaps to attention as she begins her performance. Being stiff and sharp is all part of being a Tigerette.

B.C.H.S. Tigerettes...Jessica Salter, Macy Nelson, Erin Tillery, LaTonya Crook, Kodisa Bennett, Kelly Woody, Natalie Lusk, Artazio McDole, Rebecca Ball, and Leanna Bell

ARE ALIKE

People, people, and more people; wasn't that what the entire student body was made up of! The students were divided into their own little sects at school, but at sporting events they were found bound together supporting their team.

Now that the different classes had finally found their "own" spots, we knew exactly where each class could be found. Every once in awhile a freshman could be found mixing with the Juniors, but at the pep rallies there was no mixing at all. When it came right down to it, the student body came together when it was needed. Even though we were each different, we were one in spirit.

Pretty Smile... La Shanda Atchinson is all smiles on picture day. Many people seem to dislike getting pictures made, but they'll do anything to get out of English class.

Look at Those Legs... Mr. Hinson is proud of those nice sexy legs. During the Mr. Better Legs, he gladly showed them to entire student body over the morning announcements and they were voted the best of the bunch.

Weekend Ideas... It looks as if Chris Cabiniss, Jeremy Phillips, and Chuck Byrd are discussing weekend plans. No matter what day of the week you could always find a group discussing what's happening the upcoming weekend.

ADMINISTRATION

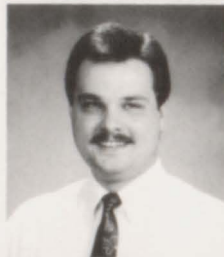

The faculty was one of the most important factors that made the school what it was. They were dedicated to the students, which made the students want to succeed. The teachers were very active; they participated in many events and made school a bit of fun for everyone. Some of these were Pep Fest, The Student -Faculty Volleyball game, and the Womanless Wedding. Mrs. Herron even cooked seafood for her students.

Whether it was planning the senior picnic, making lesson plans for writing the paragraph, remediating for the high school graduate exam, or just giving a well needed bug, our teachers were there for us.

With 433 members, the Freshmen class was the largest on campus. This made selection of favorites especially difficult, since most of the class was not yet aware of their fellow ninth graders. However each homeroom selected 6 people to represent them and their entire class voted.

The top ten vote getters were then named class favorites. It was a difficult process, but it has proved quite successful.

Start of a New Beginning

Being a freshman meant the beginning of four more long but interesting years of school. Not only did they have to worry on what was waiting ahead of them, they had to figure out the confusion of the present situation.

They had to work hard for grades as well as recognition. It didn't matter if it were in sports or academics, it seemed as if glory went to the upper classmen. But this class took the challenge and fought for their spot in the order of things. This spirit was felt in the class competitions, on the field, in the gym, and in the classroom.

Yes, it was a new beginning, but they made the start and left their mark on the way.

Sophomore Stuff

Sophomores showed their pride in their school by helping out and attending the functions offered. Guys and girls became even better friends at all the fun events. With the help from fellow students, the sophomore class had a successful year.

There were special thanks to Mrs. Steedley and Ms. Nolan for all of the work and support of the Mark events and the cruise.

"I can't count all of the good moments. The nights cruising around with my sister Meg, the parties, the river, the creek, or just Mc Donald's were all so much fun. I was just happy to be with my friends."

Strain the Brain: David Hadley strains to study for Mrs. Clemmons class. Semester tests are the Number 1 killers of unprepared students. There is only one cure for this illness...summer break!!

Tired Tasha: Tasha Barnes tries to stay awake in human anatomy. She is showing someone what REMS are.

I'm Bad: Danny Stevens shows his spirit at the pep rally, Srs. 95!!

2 more 2 go!

The seniors of nineteen hundred and ninety-five showed their spirit and pride in the school and themselves through their studies and cheering and support of whatever was going on at any particular time. They decided at the beginning of the year that this was the only way for them to prepare to leave their mark as one for others to defeat. They knew that they were literally the "middle child," as far as the classes went. Therefore, they knew that they had to be stronger and more creative to be noticed. They were!

Go Mighty Tigers! Jenny Jerkins, Jodi Peacock, Amy Osborn and Elicia Sanks wave the 10th grade banner. They lead the class in the spirit competition at a Friday afternoon pep rally.

Bag Heads: Justin Mizell wears a decorative bag to protest the spirit competition winners.

Lunch Break: Melanie Kendrick raps her eating time away. Is it lunch time or talk time?

Fabulous Favorites

The junior class had many interesting and well-liked students who helped to make this a great place to meet people and get a good education. The main thing that set the juniors apart from everyone else was just that. The class was just made up of good folks. However, we had to decide on who would best represent us in the ballot for class favorites. We voted and the selection seemed to be quite indicative of what we thought of ourselves. We were just fabulous!

Cram Time for Juniors

Whether it was catching a few Z's or actually paying attention, the juniors, it seemed, were always in class. There was always homework, it didn't matter if it were chemistry, Algebra II, or English with Mrs. Parnell, The homework had to be done. We were found everywhere studying or cramming for what was to come up next.

Who said homework had to be done at home?

Is it nap time yet? Trey Dorman seems to think so, but Sharon Ealum is not so sure. Lab is a good place to relax when your brain is overworked.

Juniors Rock the House

The junior class showed enormous class spirit. They cheered at pep rallies, made signs, and won the spirit yell. They went all out when it came time for the spirit competition. You could hear the junior's "yeahs" echoing off the gym wall as they showed their Tiger pride and won week after week. The pride and spirit of the other classes was hard to beat but some how the juniors always came through and "rocked the house."

The juniors were a class that excelled in their school-work, but also found time to party and just have fun. Their class was tops in academics for the 93' school year. The many late hours of studies and staying in during recess and lunch paid off. But after their scores were accomplished they could kick back for a day or so and have fun. This included competing in Friday pep rallies, cheering the Tigers on at football games, building the homecoming float, "The Paw that Rocks the Cradle," which received first place, and just having their own little social parties. One of the most exciting times of the year, the Ring Ceremony, proved to be a success also.

The Turning of the Ring... Frank Boatwright lets Tara Smith turn his ring. Frank has to get 93 people to turn his ring and the 94th is for that someone special.

The Juniors rounded down the year by relaxing during Spring Break and returning to plan the big event of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom. The juniors hard work foreshadows a great senior year ahead.

I'm Outta Here... Leigh Hayes is known to become excited and ready to go home at the end of a long day. But who isn't?

What's Going on? Demetrius Mason and Shakela Stevens look to see what's happening. You just never knew what was going on at BCHS

How important to your future is studying?

"Senior year of 1992 - 93 ... One of the best experiences I could ever have. There will always be tests to take or papers to write in one form or another, but there will never be another chance to be a high school senior. The friendships that have been made and the good times that have been shared more than make up for the hardships and struggles of the past four years. May the memories live forever."

- Vanetta Call

Seniors Take Time Out To Study

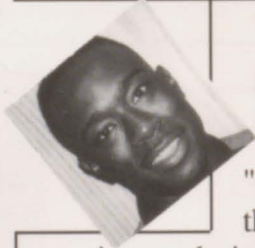

What was it seniors did? Sure they partied and went out and had a good time; however, sometimes they also studied. From cramming for exams to term papers, seniors strained their brains. Applying to colleges and getting scholarships stressed most seniors who strived to excel and live to the max. Seniors worked for the best and looked forward to the future. This "future" meant many things to many people- Would it be work, the military or college? Whatever was waiting "out there," we still had the present to consider..."Did anyone do his math?"

Future Scientist... Kirsten Kolb and Tiffany Hollingsworth work on another project for Mrs. Herron. Marine Biology is a demanding, yet interesting, class for all students.

Senior spotlight

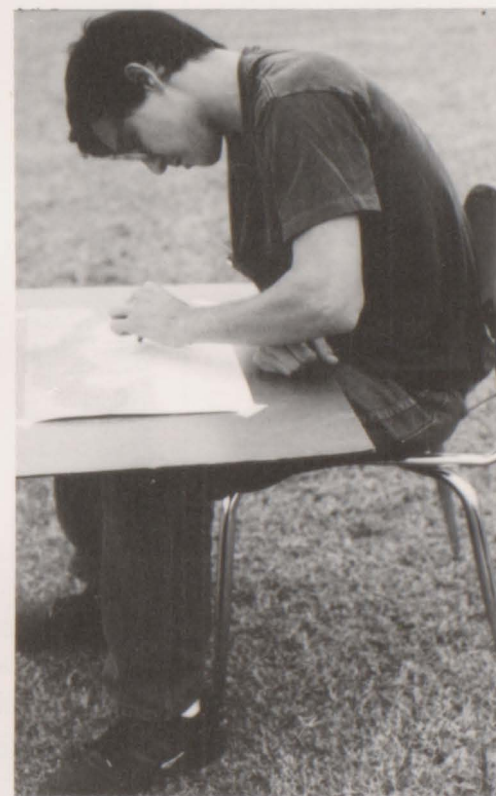

What does studying mean to you?

"Studying to me this year has been staying up during the late hours of the night, fighting to stay awake, and forcing information into my memory."
-Tylon Crook

Stress... Meg Dees works diligently to complete her term paper for Mrs. Hudson's AP English class. This is an annual project that most seniors find tedious.

Aloha! Nicole Etheridge and Amy Baggett prepare for their skit during English. This project was a nice break from the usual monotony of class; just ask Sky Alstadt.

Creative Abilities... Miko Martin lets his creative abilities flow through onto his sketch pad. Outside was fun.

What do you remember most about your senior year at Baldwin County High School?

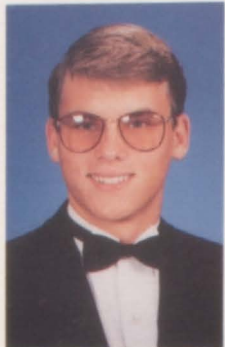

"The best things about my senior year were the holidays and weekends. Shrimp Fest, New Year's Eve, Mardi Gras, and Spring Break were the most fun. But the most exciting part of my senior year was the fact that after this year, I'd never have to go to high school again. My senior year was the most fun because I had a lot more responsibility and could do a lot more. Homecoming, Prom, and Football games were also exciting and will be cherished."

What do you plan to do after you graduate from Baldwin County High School?

Michael Frederickson's plans reflect the plans of most of his classmates. Specifics such as which college and what major were still a mystery. He said, "After high school I plan to go to college. After college I plan to join the Air Force and become a mechanic and work on jets and cargo planes."

SENIORS Have Class

Whether it was cramming for a term paper, doing a presentation, or just playing around, seniors were always doing something to show they had class. Some also participated in many of the activities around the campus. Examples of these included National Honor Society, Key Club, Interact, and fund raisers that provided help for the needy. This class was not interested in themselves only...now, that was class.

Bald is Beautiful... Jason Creech and Brian Peace act out their own myths that explain how man got hair.

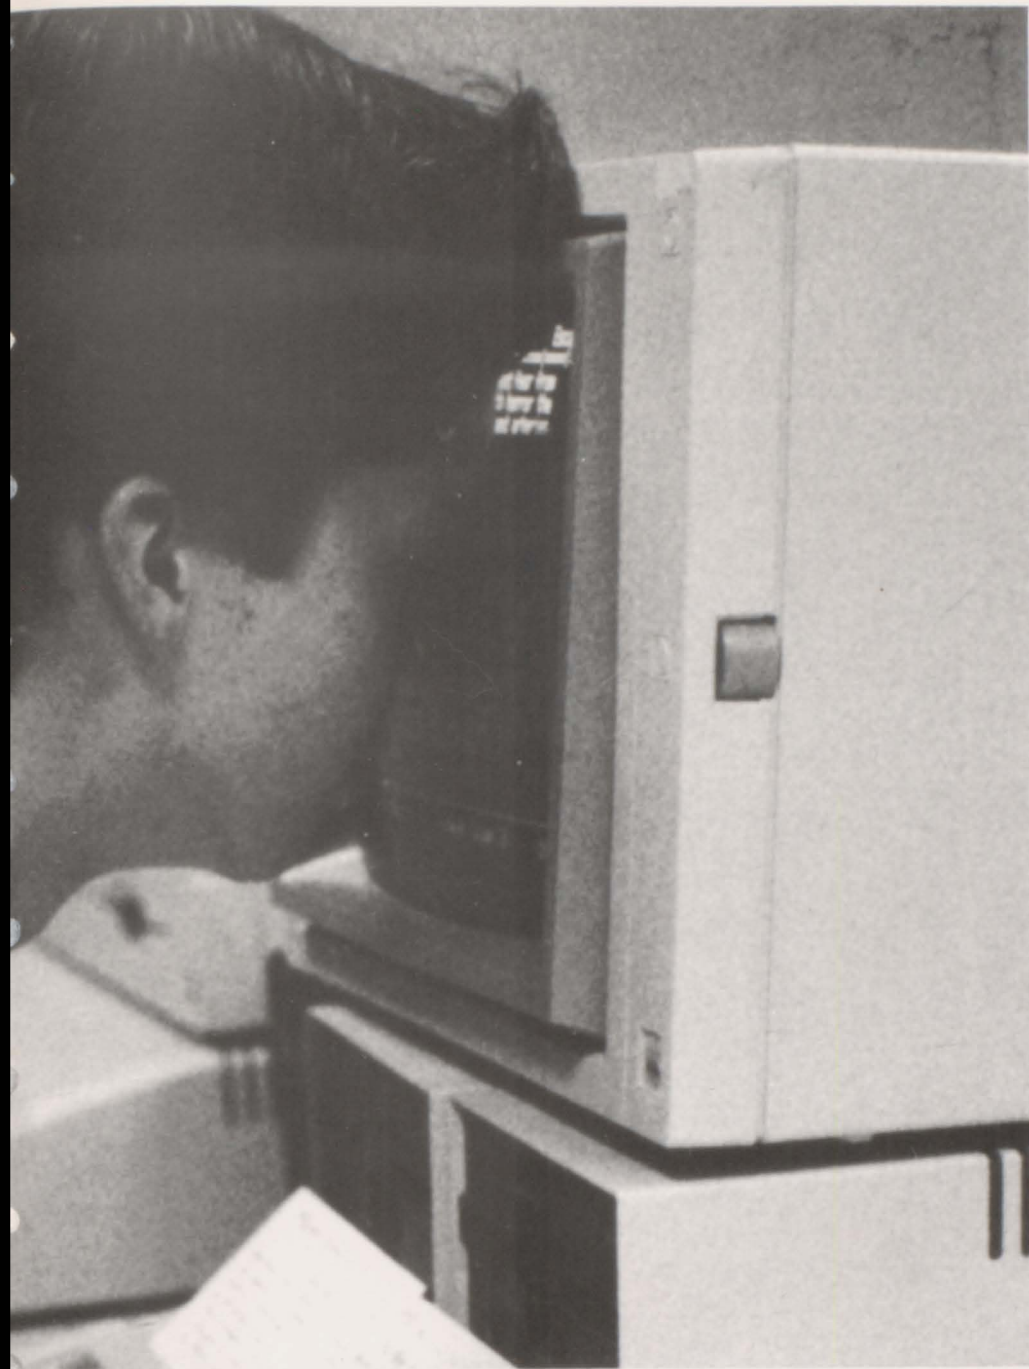

Senior spotlight

What's a normal day filled with classes like to you? "A day filled with classes is full of lots of questions, studying, clowning around; and I guess it goes without saying - total chaos!" -David Mitchem

Nerve Racking... Jim Hamilton shows how nerve racking a term paper is. The end becomes a celebration.

Meditating... Jeff Hannah and Tylon Crook give a class presentation. Skits break the norm of the long day.

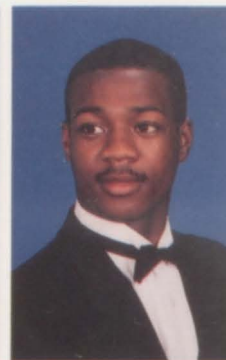

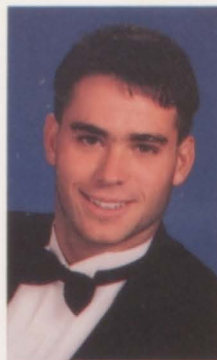

Seclusion... Jim Lipscomb sits all by himself in Mrs. Bulman's classroom. Sometimes you just have to be alone to understand senior English.

John Crawford, Joe Perkins, Glenn Hastings, Scotty Barnett, Keith Stevens, Walter Glass, and Jamie Stewart are his closest friends. After graduating, he will probably go on to college.

Some Seniors are Studs

Senior Studs were the standout spectacles around campus. Everywhere you looked there were "studs and babes," from the classrooms to the commons. There were no specific qualifications for this honor - one just was. There weren't many around, but when you found one you knew it. They were full of energy, spirit, and good looks. They were the seniors who dared to be different and dared to stand out... they were the Senior Studs!

The Get-Along-Gang... Genise Parker, Heather Paslay, Ann Sprinkle, Meg Dees, and Julie "Psycho" Patterson stand out in the cold to prove real "babes" are tough.

Senior spotlight

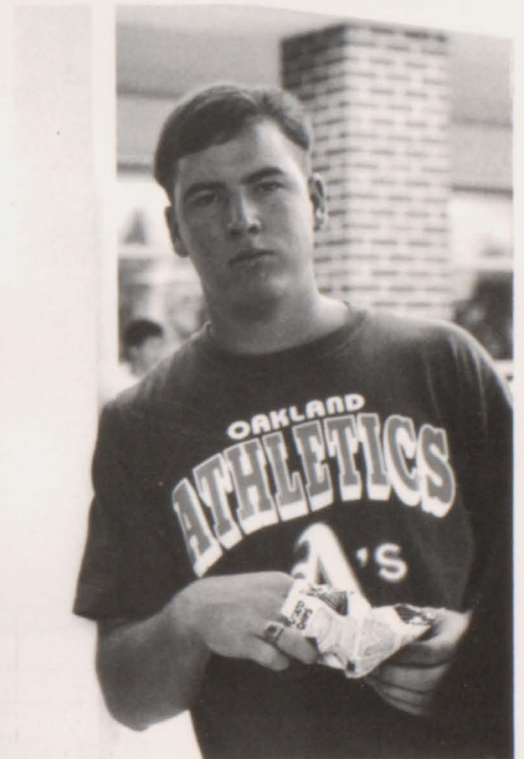

What do you think are the qualifications of a senior stud?

"I think you have to be smart, good looking, friendly and always have nice things to say to everybody."

- Jimmy Wurst

The "Hudson Hop... Kaye Barlow, Kirsten Kolb, Angela Williams, Vanetta Call, Jessica Ammons, and Tiffany Hollingsworth do the "Hudson" hop around the gem. It's a Senior thing.

Look at you... Chuck Hicks and Jody Jaye know they are fine, but they want to know, "Are you?"

Stud or Dudd... Jamie Parker ponders the problems of the day while he munches out on chips. It takes talent to lean and still be cool.

Where's the rest of 'em... Jimmy Palmer looks around at a pep rally for the rest of his buddies. Sometimes you just need a friend.

In Memory of Vanessa Myles

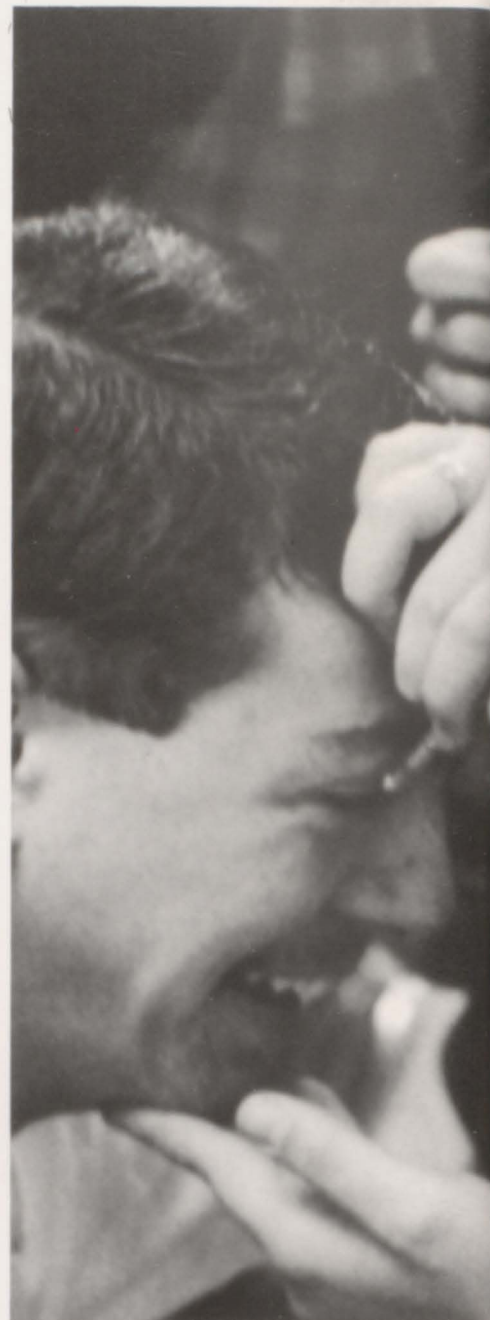

Vanessa was a senior at BCHS who had just recently transferred from Milton High School. On September 10, 1992 she was involved in a fatal car accident. The loss of a friend and classmate is beyond comprehension, so we let her live in our hearts.

It's Just A Day in the Lives of Seniors

A day in the lives of the seniors was anything but dull. Before they knew it, they were being bombarded with the cost of invitations, shirts, and cap and gowns. They had finally begun to prepare for life after high school by taking the ACT at Faulkner, applying for scholarships, and visiting that college of their choice. They eagerly anticipated the coming senior trip to Cozumel because it would be a final celebration for people who had become good friends. They made the best of that last year and held on to every memory. There would not be a "second time around."

Vocabulary Vixen: Corry Cox takes a rest while cramming for a vocabulary test. Most seniors are so busy that studying becomes an art in itself. Where is the time?

Senior spotlight

What is your typical day as a senior like?

"I take everything one day at a time, except for before or after weekends. However, most of the time they turn out like a nuclear bomb going off in my head."

- Matt Goodman

Primping: Shay Cain puts make-up on Scotty Barnett while Walter Glass stares in awe. It's amazing what we could find to do those last five minutes of every class period.

It Wasn't Easy Being *S*trictly seniors

"Strictly seniors" was a phrase that was used very often during the school year. The class even thought of different dances such as the Hudson Hop. There were special cheers such as "Senior 93" and "Class to be-'93." Seniors were overheard saying things like "You go girl" and "Word up" and "For real dough." They also had their own way of dressing on certain days, such as the time all of the girls and guys wore togas.

To sum it up, this class was known for its originality. When the members of this group look back on their class, there will be all kinds of special "things" that were strictly senior stuff.

Membership has its Privileges... Even though Maria Bolton, James Hall, and Thad Andrews are seniors, the rules for being late still pertain to them. Mr. Reiben keeps tabs on all tardies and three will place you in OCS. Most of us found ourselves late at least once or twice. It was really scary after the second time around though. Ms. Vickery is a wonderful lady, but I'd rather spend time with her elsewhere.

*S*enior potlight

What is the most memorable moment in your senior year?

"When Jamie Parker and I got my bronco stuck in the mud on a Friday night and had to be home by 12:00. It was 11:30 when we got stuck, and we new that we would be late." - Hudson Shaddix Tangling Your Tongue... Amy Baggett and Joy Jaye help David Clark stay out of trouble by holding his tongue. This was hard for him to do alone.

Thirty Minute Relaxation... Regina Summers relaxes on her thirty minute lunch break. Eating nachos and drinking a coke is a daily menu for most of us.

Laid Back to Rest... Marcus Byrd shows that he can find a place to sleep when he gets tired. Some teachers seem to understand that some students need a little extra TLC.

Sunshine Son... Jamie Welker takes advantage of his lunch time to soak up the sun. Being inside all day can make one grumpy.

What have you enjoyed most about your senior year?

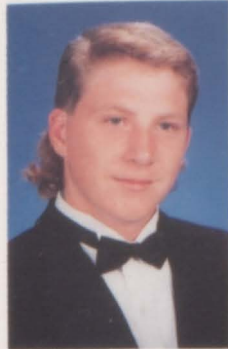

"I have enjoyed many things about my senior year, but most of all I have enjoyed the closeness of this school. Everyone knows everyone else, and there is a general feeling of camaraderie that you don't find anywhere else."

LEADERS OF THE PACK

The senior class started off with two outstanding officers - Brandilyn Dockens and Nicole Byrne. They helped with most graduation activities. With all their hard work and dedication, Brandilyn and Nicole led the senior pack.

President

Treasurer

It pays to be a senior. Nicole Byrne adds up the money seniors have to pay to get cap and gowns.

What to wear? Brandilyn Dockens decides on the perfect shirt for her seniors, which is one of the many big decisions for a president.

Taking it

Town

The stores, churches, and citizens of the community were a great help to us, as usual. When asked, they responded by buying ads and sponsoring school functioned events. Although business this year was not at an all time high, the community still continued to help. We owe a big thanks to all those who on the following pages pitched in and bought ads. They're the ones who have invested in us, again.

Take it 2 town.

Supporting a good cause ... Cathy Hicks and Tammy Davis love the selection at Smith Sporting Goods. Thanks Smith's for all the help and support you've given us over the years. It's because of sponsors such as you, that we can do what we do. We appreciate your business.

Check it out ... Meg Dees and Alan Hall check out the pizza to make sure they have the right order. Pizza Hut was a familiar hangout, especially right before those Friday night football games.

All in a day ... David Mitchem spends most of his free time working like many other students. This year students working after school reached an all time high.

National Honor Society Seniors

Angela,

We are so proud of you.

Love, Mom and Dad

Kirsten,

Don't be afraid to say, "I don't know." Save ten percent of what you earn. Take time to smell the roses. Count your blessings. Call your mother.

Love,
Dad, Mom, Jr., Jeremiah, and Kiley

Melanie,

You have been a blessing from the start, we love you with all our hearts. Thank you for the many joys and pleasures.

Love,
Daddy, Mother, Chuck,
and Jerrica

Heather,

I called you my baby when you were born. I called you Mew because that is what you are. Even though you are my sister, you will always be my best friend. We are connected to each other by blood, but together by choice. I'm so proud of you for who you are and who you have become. We love you baby girl.

Congratulations to a wonderful Granddaughter!

Love, Granddaddy and Grandmommie Duck

Love,

Urusla,

*You are my child.
You are a miracle that never ceases to be miraculous. You are full of beauty and forever beautiful. You are loving and caring and truly amazing to me.
The only words to describe my feelings for you are that I love you.
Time will pass by, and so many things will change, but the absolute joy you bring to my life will only grow deeper and more important to me. You have made my life complete, and I hope that you will carry my feelings of love for you with you wherever you go, always knowing that my love for you is forever.*

You are the best friends that I have ever had; and when we have gone our separate ways. I will miss you dearly. I'm convinced that I will keep myself going by remembering all of the wonderful times we've had. From that unexpected pond in Stockton Schoolyard to Ferguson on the square, we've had some of the best times that I could ever imagine. I will always keep those memories with me and also keep a very special place for all of you in my heart. TGG forever!

Average Undergraduate Tuition

Alabama School Journal July 17, 1992

4-Year Public College $1740

FAULKNER STATE COLLEGE $909

Ask yourself this simple question--
How much does college actually cost?

The majority of colleges cost more than most families can afford.

Not FAULKNER STATE.

FAULKNER STATE has the lowest tuition in Alabama.

FAULKNER STATE is close to home,
with campuses in Bay Minette, Fairhope, Foley and Gulf Shores.

And the courses you take at FAULKNER STATE transfer to whatever university you plan to attend.

So, ask yourself, can I afford college?

We think you know the answer.

Faulkner State

Senior Standouts

Mr. & Miss BCHS & Who's Who

Mr. Matt Achimon and Miss Brandilyn Dockens were chosen Mr. and Miss BCHS by their peers.

Matt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Achimon. Matt participated in many events which included: j.v. and varsity baseball, All-Star and All County teams his senior year, a member of Lyon's Club and Student Council, class Vice-President, and NHS. Matt's popularity became evident when his peers voted him Prom King, Mr. BCHS, Best Personality, Most Friendly, and Best All Around.

Brandilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dockens. Brandilyn was very active during her high school years. She served on the Student Council, was a member of the varsity basketball and cheerleader teams. She was the sophomore vice-president and president in her eleventh and twelfth grade years. Brandilyn was first runner up in the '91 Miss Balcoala Pageant and voted to the Homecoming court. She served on Gayfer's Teen Board, Delta Belles and Beaux, and was a Key Club Favorite. Brandilyn was elected Prom Queen and, along with Matt, Best Personality, Most Freindly, and Best All Around.

Till we meet again!

Before you knew it, it was time for the seniors to clean out their lockers and say their tearful good-byes. Everyone was happy to see the year come to a close, but it was happening too fast. Even the usual class schedule, so it was interrupted. These interruptions caused and there was not a moment when the underclassmen were ready for the next months, and all of the seniors were in other stages in their lives. As the campus on the last day, you could hear the phrases "Call me" or "Keep in touch" echoing through the soon-to-be empty halls.

Every week some event upset did not seem like school. Teachers piled more work, moment to spare. All of them to get out, if only for three weeks were ready to move in to everyone slowly left the

"I'm glad to be out of high school but I'm going to miss all of my friends. I just hope we all remain in touch."

Farewell...Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Howell, and Mrs. Herron are saying goodbye to BCHS and moving on to another part of their lives. Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Howell are retiring, but Mrs. Herron is going to teach at Mississippi Southern. We wish ya'll the best!

All Smiles...Ronnie Buck is all smiles, gum and all. Graduation is a time to let all your worries go and be yourself, and that is exactly what Ronnie did.

Volume 71 of the Balcoala was published by the annual staff and printed by Herff Jones, in Montgomery, Alabama. 550 copies were printed on 160 pound bordeaux paper. The cover was 60% reverse black with the writing and clawmarks outlined in silver-screen and deboss.

We would like to say thank you to Randy Claybrook, our Herf Jones Rep. He helped us when we thought we had no hope left. We still owe him for throwing the surprise birthday party.

To the staffers, we would like to say without you this book would not have been possible. You guys did a great job! Even though we were a young staff, we piled all of our thoughts together and came up with one of the best yearbooks ever. The friendships made on the staff will last a life time.

Mrs. Hudson, what can we say, you are definitely one of a kind. You were there to help us with not only yearbook problems, but with life problems also. You are the best! Thanks for the long hours after school. I just hope you've enjoyed this year as much as we did.

Senior Shorts: Becky Heathcock sports a new style in graduation attire. You've come a long way from the white dress and heels, Baby! A nice gown can cover a multitude of sins.

THE 2ND CLASS

Two Thumbs Up!

Jere Bundy seems to rate the ceremony highly. I guess when you have come as far as these folks have the only real thing that counts is the piece of paper waiting for you when you turn the gown in. No gown, no diploma!

Final March: The senior class makes its way onto the field for the Friday night ceremony.
